I wish to express my sincere thanks to my respected guide Dr. B. B. Chaugule, for suggesting me the problem and inspiring me in this research work on Charophytes. My greatful thanks are also to Prof. S. Y. Kambale, Head, Department of Botany, University of Pune for his encouragements. I am thankful to all my teachers in Botany Department of University of Pune for their valuable help.

I owe my great debt to Principal, Dr. P. N. Mane, Y. C. Institute of Science, Satara for giving me this opportunity of research work and continuous inspiration.

It is a pleasure to acknowledge my greatful thanks to Dr. V. P. Khandekar, Head, Department of Botany and all colleagues in my Department for their persistant encouragement and keen interest in my research work.

My greatful thanks to numerous friends, Mrs. Shobha Patil, Mrs. Sanjeevani Patil, Prof. S. R. Patil, and Prof. G. M. Acharya who have rendered their help in the preparation of this thesis.

I would fail in my duties if I do not mention my husband Dr. C. T. Karande who is my source of inspiration and guidance, and without his assistance this work would not have materialised.

I am deeply indebted to my father for his encouragement during my research work.

(Mrs. Vaneeeta C. Karande)
