

S U M M A R Y

The thesis deals with development of new synthetic routes to the phenanthridine and indole ring systems. A few applications of the new furoquinoline synthesis, developed in this laboratory, to the synthesis of two of the furoquinoline alkaloids is also described. The last chapter is concerned with the derivation of the stereochemistry of the papaya alkaloids by the analysis of their nuclear magnetic resonance spectra.