ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The old saying goes 'no thesis can be complete with the efforts of one individual'. How true! In the course of my research, I have been fortunate enough to receive help from various sources.

First, it goes without saying my indebtedness to my super-visor, Prof. G. Haragopal without whose help, support and guidance I wouldn't have seen this day of completion. Thank you. Sir! Thank you.

I owe special thanks to Prof. Shantha Sinha, Head, Department of Political Science for her needy help. My special thanks to Dr. Sarangi for the hard-needed and affectionate phase of encouragement throughout my research life. I would like to thank Dr. Sudhir Jacob George for enlightening me on the so-called dark corners of the country, the North-east for my research. Needless to say without the help and support of the whole faculty this research would be a distant dream.

my grateful thanks to the Prof. T.R. Sharma, Dean, School of Social Sciences for his valuable comments on the Punjab situation. Dr. Bapuji's help and co-operation in lending material for my research has been a sweet gesture.

The cooperation and support given by Mohan Rao and Krishna and the staff of the Dean, School of Social Sciences made me finish my work without hassels. My special word of thanks to them.

Thanks are due to the staff of the Indira Gandhi Memorial Library, University of Hyderabad, Centre for Economic and Social Studies and the Osmania University Library, Hyderabad, J.N.U. and Nehru Memorial Libraries, New Delhi. Thanks to all the computer centre staff, HCU, especially Gangaji, Balu and Subramanyam for their assistance.
My warm appreciation to all my friends who had made my stay in the campus most comfortable and enjoyable. Without Saru, Leela, Sandhu, Padhi and Srilaxmi my stay in the hostel would be bland. My affectionate thanks to Vydehi and Lavanya for their encouragement, off Campus, in their own cute ways. In a simple way, thank pals, thanks, you made my day.

A really special and warm word of thanks to Amma, Nana, Anna-Vodina and my Akka & Jiju for bearing me in my foul moods and helping me in my hard days of research. My sweet kisses to Varun and Bunny for making me forget the travails of research in their midst.

With my grand old man, LAMBU by my side, researching was no more toilsome and dreary. Needless to say his encouragement and support say me through in one piece physically and mentally.
