Bibliography
1. The Social Dimension of Information Technology, Introduction, G. David Garson
2. Virtual Communities and Social Capital. Anita Blanchard and Tom Horan
3. Human Capital Issues and Information Technology. Byron L. Davis and Edward L. Kick
4. The Progress of the Internet. Grant Blank
5. The Co-Evolution of Society and Multimedia Technology. James Stewart and Robin Williams
7. Electronic Communities: Assessing Equality of Access. Eric Riedel, Marc J. Wagoner, Libby Dresel,
8. Ethics, Law, and Information Technology: The Transformative Role of Rhetoric. Brian M. O'Connell
9. Creating a Democratic Public Sphere through Political Discussion. Steven M. Schneider
10. Changing Roles in Information Dissemination and Education. Brian Kroeker
11. Technological Change, Virtual Learning, and Higher Education. Mark A. Shields
12. The Role of Information Technology in Quality Education. G. David Garson
13. The Paradox of Paperless Classes. Paula Lackie
15. Manufacturing Knowledge: Technology, Culture, and Social Inequality at Work. Steven Vallas
16. Researching Telework: Past Concerns and Future Directions. Nicole B. Ellison
17. The Information Age: Apartheid, Cultural Imperialism, or Global Village? R. Alan Hedley
18. Networking for Sustainable Development: Innovative Approaches Outside the 'Global Village'. Karina Funk

46. Bey, Hakim. "The Information War."

49. Chandler, Daniel, Media and Communications Studies Site

51. Hakim Bey, "The Information War" in Druckrey
