It gives me a great pleasure to express my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. S. Sinha, professor and head of the Department of Anatomy, Jhansi Medical College, Jhansi, for his kind permission, constant guidance and boost up of my moral support in carrying out this work. Despite being extremely busy he always made himself available for his advice and kind suggestions at all stages of this work. His constructive criticism has made it possible to put more substance in the work for which I am highly indebted to him.

The timely advice, suggestions and useful criticism received from Prof. A. Jain, professor, Department of Anatomy, J.L.N. Medical College, Jhansi has been of great help and supervision and guidance throughout this work for which the author is highly thankful.

This thesis is the outcome of one year of constant guidance and encouragement by Dr. V. Kumar, M.B., Lecturer, Department of Anatomy, J.L.N. Medical College, Jhansi. During this period he has been my best co-guide and also constant source of inspiration. This thesis is not only a reflection of the various discussions and observations which took place during the course of this work but there is much more that I got from him which would be difficult to express in words.

The style, diction, sequence and arrangement of this thesis has been possible with the help of several discussions made with Dr. V. Kumar, who not only corrected my mistakes from time to time but also showed ways of improvement.

I am highly obliged to Dr. C.R. Langin, Reader and Dr. I.V. Thomas, Reader, Department of Anatomy, M.L.M. Medical College, Jhansi for the moral support during the course of this work.

I am obliged to Junior Doctors and staff members of Obstetric and Gynaecology department, M.L.M. Medical College & Hospital, Jhansi for providing fresh aborted foetuses.

I am also highly thankful to Dr. I.S. Singh, Lecturer, Department of Skin, V.D. & Leprosy who was giving me best inspiration for the Degree of M.S. Anatomy.

I am also highly thankful to Mr. R.C. Jain, Laboratory Technician, Department of Pathology, Mr. Sunil Kumar Yadav, Technician, Department of Anatomy.
