Fig.1.1: Twelve Pillars of Economic Competitiveness [Schwab, 2009] ……03
Fig.1.2: Challenges in Turbulent Environment [Chaudhary, 2005] ………04
Fig.1.3: ICT support for Business Processes……………………………….09
Fig.1.4: Enablers of KM for Sustainable Competitive Advantage………11
Fig.1.5: Thesis Organization……………………………………………………25
Fig.2.1: Data– Information– Knowledge– Intelligence Pyramid……………30
Fig.2.2(a): Data in Euclidean Space………………………………………….36
Fig.2.2(b): Data & Information in Euclidean pace…………………………36
Fig.2.2(c): Data, Information & Knowledge in Euclidean Space…………36
Fig.2.3: Organizational System, Environment and Stakeholders…………38
Fig.2.4: Tacit Knowledge Cycle………………………………………………44
Fig.2.5(a): Data to Information………………………………………………..48
Fig.2.5(b): Information to Knowledge and then KM……………………48
Fig.2.6: SECI Model [Nonaka, 1994]……………………………………51
Fig.2.7: KM Processes…………………………………………………………54
Fig.3.1: An Example of Concept Map……………………………………77
Fig.3.2: An Example of Concept Circle Diagram…………………………78
Fig.3.3: Mind Map for Career Options for Engineering Course…………79
Fig.3.4: Perceptual Map [Webref, 2001]……………………………………….80
Fig.3.5: Semantic Network of Engineering Institute……………………….80
Fig.3.6(a): An Example of Causal Map…………………………………….81
Fig.3.6(b): Ishikawa Fishbone Diagram……………………………………82
Fig.3.7: Petri Net as Process Knowledge Map……………………………..83
Fig.3.8: B-C Model of Knowledge Map Development……………………93
Fig.4.1(a): Cost Components of Learning Investment [Yunhe, 2008]……105
Fig.4.1(b): Possible Reduction in Cost Components of Learning
Investment after Deploying KM System…………………………………105
Fig.4.2: Context Diagram Representing System Knowledge
Fig.4.3: Context Diagram Representing System Knowledge

Fig.4.4: Process Types

Fig.4.5: An example of Structure Chart showing Modules of a Software System

Fig.4.6(a): DFD as a Process Knowledge Map for Short of Attendance Process

Fig.4.6(b): Structure Chart as a Process Knowledge Map for Short of Attendance Process

Fig.4.7: Structure Chart as a Process Knowledge Map for Preparing Panel of Examiner Process

Fig.5.1: Schematic Arrangement of Decision Tree

Fig.5.2: Layered Arrangement of Knowledge Maps in an Organization

Fig.5.3: Concept Map Corresponding to Context Diagram of a Department

Fig.5.4: Concept Map Linked with Process Knowledge Map

Fig.5.5(a): Concept Map for Thermostat [Safayeni, 2005]

Fig.5.5(b): Hybrid Concept Map for Thermostat

Fig.5.6(a): Concept Map for Marketing Process (Partial)

Fig.5.6(b): Hybrid Concept Map for Marketing Process (Partial)
Table 1.1: Organizational Processes Supported by ICT...........................08
Table 1.2: ICT enabling Generic Strategies for Competitive Advantage......10
Table 1.3: KM for Sustainable Competitive Advantage...........................12
Table 1.4: Business Vs Academia...............................................................13
Table 1.5: KM Strategies for an Engineering Institute..............................15
Table 2.1: Data, Information and Knowledge [Brinklow, 2004]................35
Table 2.2: Layers of Knowledge.................................................................39
Table 2.3: Knowledge Dimensions............................................................41
Table 2.4: KM Definitions........................................................................46
Table 2.5: Knowledge Processes [Weber, 2003]........................................53
Table 2.6: KM Processes Mapping.............................................................55
Table 2.7: KM Research Approaches [Giaglis, 2003].................................57
Table 2.8: KM Schools [Earl, 2001]............................................................58
Table 2.9: Knowledge Capturing Methodologies....................................63
Table 2.10: Knowledge Transfer Channels [Alavi, 2001]............................69
Table 3.1: Root Domain of Knowledge Map............................................85
Table 3.2: Forms of Knowledge Map........................................................87
Table 3.3: Knowledge Maps for Knowledge Layers..................................88
Table 3.4: Knowledge Maps for Knowledge Dimensions.........................90
Table 3.5: Knowledge Map for A Process.................................................99
Table 4.1: DFDs as Knowledge Map..........................................................108
Table 4.2: A Survey from The Economist Intelligence Unit 2005
[The Economist, 2005]........................................................................116
Table 4.3: Structure Chart as Process Knowledge Map...........................119