ACKNOWLEDGMENT

For this study I am grateful to Professor P. R. Roy, the research guide of the thesis, for his valuable advice during the course of this work.

I am also grateful to Professor Rakhal Dutta, convener of the Ph. D. Committee and to Professor A. K. Banerjee, Dr. Sarmila Banerjee, Dr. Rabindranath Mukherjee and Smt. Isita Mukherjee of the Department of Economics, University of Calcutta, for their comments and suggestions.

I am thankful to several government officials, and also to the entrepreneurs, labourers and artisans of the surveyed units for giving me the time and critical information without which this research could not be completed. Sri R.P. Banerjee and Sri B.R. Pal, procurement officers of Tantuja, Sri J. Putitundi, statistical officer of the Handloom Directorate and Sri K. Mukherjee, estate manager of Webel Electronic Complex at Taratolla, Calcutta have provided statistical data and other contacts during my field work. I am indebted to Professor Monoranjan Bhattacharya of Saha Institute of Nuclear Physics, Calcutta for pointing out several information sources and for providing basic knowledge about several electronic products.

Lastly I owe a debt of gratitude to my husband Sri Dilip Dutta, whose continuous assistance and encouragement enabled me to complete the work.
