To be candid, this doctoral programme indeed provided me with an excellent opportunity to assimilate intensively as well as extensively the various aspects and techniques of Development Banking operations. These aspects relate to the regional, national and international obligations required of a development bank as a whole. It must be clearly stated that the recommendations made in this study is an embodiment of both theoretical and empirical evaluation of various development agencies engaged in Industrial Finance. Such suggestions if practically implemented, will be helpful in tackling most of the policy objectives of many nations, more especially as it affects “Industrialisation and Development Banking”.

It is vital to note that irrespective of the vastness of this project, the entire work was conducted in accordance with its requirements and within the scheduled period. Thus, when I think of the eminent personalities, experts and juries behind the successful completion of this work (Ph.D. Thesis), the first name that comes to mind, remain that of my Guide, Dr. S.B. Kolte, whose guiding techniques as far as this work is concerned, is second to none. He has inspiringly devoted his valuable time in the conduct and orderly completion of this dissertation, despite the fact that he is fully occupied, being the present Dean of Commerce Faculty as well as an Executive Council member (EC) of the University. He has not only provided me with his excellent guidance during this period, but has also bridged some...
Problems that could have hampered the early completion of this thesis. In fact, my thanks to him in this regard is endless.

My sincere thanks also goes to Prof. M.A. Deshmuck, Head, Department of Commerce and Management Science, Poona University, Pune and Dr. M.C. Dixit, Research Guide and Head, Department of Commerce and Mercantile Law, Ness Wadia College of Commerce, Pune, for their useful advice and encouragement throughout the period of my study.

I must also extend my heartfelt felicitation to Sri. B.K. Ghose, Director and M/s. Bibha Ganguly, Chief Librarian, all of the National Institute of Bank Management Pune, for granting me the permission to make use of their Library facilities. I am equally thankful to the entire officers, Professors and staff of the above institute for guiding and providing me with the necessary materials needed during my course of study, may God grant their effort with success. My deep sense of gratitude also goes to the Director, Officers and Staff of the British Library Pune, The Jayakar Library, Poona University, Pune, The Library of the Gokhale Institute of Commerce and Political Science etc. for providing me with their sincere and timely services during this period.

In order to update the empirical aspects of this work, visits were made and interactions held with the Managing Directors, Sectional Officers and Staff of the following development banks. Among these include Shri. S.S. Nadkarni, Managing Director – Industrial Development Bank of India-Bombay, Shri. S.P. Banerjee – Executive Director – Industrial Finance Corporation of India,
New Delhi, Shri. N. Vaghul, Managing Director, Industrial Credit and Investment Corporation of India-Bombay, Shri. A.K. Chakravarty - Executive Director-Industrial Reconstruction Bank of India - Calcutta, Shri. A.K.D. Jadav - Managing Director - Maharashtra State Financial Corporation-Bombay and Shri. S.G. Jadav - Regional Manager - MSFC, Pune. For these Directors, I am placing on record my deep and sincere appreciation for their maximum co-operation accorded to me during my field work. The most remarkable is the free access granted to me in going through some of their important records as well as providing me with the necessary information needed in this regard. I wish them more successive years in their respective positions.

In line with the above, I visited a number of Universities for seminars, lectures and data collection. Some of the Professors, whose assistance in this regard has been commendable include: Prof. Mohan Lal Nigam - (Ph.D., Financial analysis, techniques and Banking Decisions) - Faculty of Social Science, Delhi University Delhi. Dr. A.K. Datagupta - Head - University College of Commerce, Calcutta University Calcutta. Prof. R.K. Hebbar - Ph.D. (Washington) - Head - Department of Research Methodology, Tata Institute of Social Science Bombay. Prof. S.D. Tripathi - Department of Commerce and Business Management, Punjab University Chandigarh. Prof. D. Amarchand - Head - Faculty of Commerce, University of Madras - Tamil Nadu, Dr. B.D. Ghonasgi - Ph.D. (Banking and Finance) Head - Faculty of Commerce, University of Bombay and Dr. B. Paevathi - wera Rao - MBA, Ph.D. Reader - Department of Commerce and Management.
studies, Andhra University Waltair. In fact, for these professors, I don't know how to express my happiness for the pains they have taken in arranging and conducting the seminars, lectures as well as directing me sincerely during the phase of my data collection. I am really glad for all their effort and wished them God's guidance and prosperity.

My warm greetings also goes to the senior vice president Mr. Alfred Thalwitz—Director—Department of Policy Research and External Affairs—International Bank for Reconstruction and Development and Sir William Rhyie—Executive Vice President—International Finance corporation, for answering and forwarding my questionnaires on schedule.

My duty in this regard will be incomplete if I fail to emphasize the unmatchable role played by my parents (Mr. Cyprien E. Nwaigwe and Mrs. Fidolia N. Nwaigwe), my sisters Mrs. Patricia Ohalete, Mrs. Anthonia Nwaigwe, my junior brother Mr. Jerome Nwaigwe and other junior ones whose names were not mentioned here for their moral, financial and most of all, their deep sense of understanding and endurance all through my period of studies abroad. They have not only endured my absence from home, but have jointly shouldered all our family responsibilities which under normal condition, are not meant for them to carry. In fact, they were my greatest inspiration and have enabled me to forge ahead irrespective of numerous difficulties that have emerged during the period of this programme. They were the brain behind my academic success right from my bachelor's degree.
to Masters and finally to Ph.D. and as a result, deserved the highest credit for the successful completion of this doctoral programme. I need not to mention the reward I owe them for all these things, for such might be beyond human imagination if pronounced. All I can do at moment for them is to pray to the Almighty Father, the Creator of Heaven and Earth to guide and protect all of them for me, give them long life, good health and prosperity, so as to enable us meet and enjoy happily the good fruit of our hard labour. In this regard, I will mention categorically that without them, my studies abroad could not have been possible.

I may also stress here that words alone are inadequate to express my profound sense of gratitude to both my inlaws, Mr. Cletus Egbuchulem, Able Engineering Works, Owerri and Mr. Gideon Ohaleta, Eko Holiday Inn, Lagos for their relentless effort in seeing that my studies abroad remain a success. Their eminence contribution in this regard can never be forgotten. I must also express my deepest appreciation for my beloved cousin brother, Dr. B.A. Nwaigwe who has spared his valuable time in going through my scripts with great accuracy. I owe him a great deal of thanks in this regard.

I also acknowledge with thanks the moral support as well as the fatherly role played by Chief Jeremiah I. Nwaigwe along with other senior members of our family in maintaining peace and harmony all through our period of studies abroad. I will also extend my gratitude to my late Uncle’s Wife, Mrs. Charity Nwaigwe... for her struggle in taking care of my junior ones all through these years. May god grant her effort with great success.

I am extremely grateful to Mr. V.S. Santaih-Assistant Registrar (Special), Andhra University Waltair, in whose House I stayed without any trouble throughout my studies in India. His discussions and rewarding advice is an added impetus towards my academic struggle. I wish him and his family the best of all things. My heartfelt felicitations should also go to both Juddy and Sybil all of Williams family for their generosity, kind consideration and urgent attention towards our difficulties. Their role in this regard can never be forgotten. I therefore, wished them long life, God's guidance and protection.

Many of my friends who were enticed by this highest academic degree/programme and whose courageous advice added more zeal towards my struggle include Hon. Innocent Nwanguma Vice Principal Echee High School Echee, Mr. Clement Achor, Associate Member, Life Insurance Corporation of India, Mr. Chima Okorie, Mohan Began Sporting Club, Calcutta, Mr. Boniface Obiejesi, Management trainee Obi Firms Limited Onisha. Dr. Isreal Wilson Udornizor Department of Journalism and Mass communication Poona University, Pune, Dr. George Ogboforigbo, Department of Political Science, Poona University, Pune and Dr. Samuel Uba, Department of Pharmaceutical Science, Bangalore University, Bangalore.

Fellow scholars whose discussions and arguments have been useful in balancing this dissertation include Mr. George Chares
E. Onwuka, Mr. Keside Ihemereze and Chris Obisi all of Department of Commerce and Management Sciences, Poona University, Pune.
Mr. Ikechi Okanyirioha, College of Science and Technology, Andhra University Waltair and Charles Omeragia, Geology Department, Andhra University Waltair.

I am equally thankful to my typist Shri. G.A. Raju and Shri. S.K. Shankar for the accuracy maintained in typing my project.

I will also like to congratulate all the eminent economists, writers and Philosophers whose ideas, work and recommendations have been positively or negatively utilised in this study for further advancement in the field of Industrialisation and development banking, for them I say a million thanks and more grease to their elbows.

Finally, I would like to extend my sincere greetings to all those whose names could not appear here due to one reason or the other, but whose contribution have directly or indirectly affected the successful completion of this doctoral programme. I wish them success in all their human endeavours.