BIBLIOGRAPHY

• Beaver, W (January 1968), Alternative Accounting Measures as Predictors of Failure, Accounting Review.

• Bhattacharya, C. D (February, 1982), Discriminant analysis between sick and healthy units, The Chartered Accountant.

• Board for Industrial and Financial Reconstruction (BIFR), New Delhi, Website: www.bifr.nic.in.

• Board for Industrial and Financial Reconstruction (BIFR), New Delhi, Performance Review, Various Years.

• Central Statistical Organisation (CSO), Annual Survey of Industries, various years, Government of India.

• Centre for Monitoring the Indian Economy (CMIE), Economic Intelligence Service, Corporate Sector, various years, Mumbai.

• Centre for Monitoring the Indian Economy (CMIE) (1996), Economic Intelligence: India's Industrial Sector, Mumbai.

• Coats, P and L F Fant (January 1992), Recognizing Financial Distress Patterns Using a Neural Network Tool, Working Paper, Florida State University, School of Business.

• Dasgupta, Dipankar, Pradip Maity, Robin Mukherjee and others (2000), Growth and Interstate Disparities in India, Economic and Political Weekly, July 1, pp 2413-2422.

• Khandwalla, Pradip N (1989), Effective Turnaround of Sick Enterprises: Text and Cases.

• Kuchhal, S. C (1989), The Industrial Economy of India, Chaitanya Publishing House, Allahabad.

• Levin, Richard I and David S. Rubin (2002), Statistics For Management, New Delhi, Prentice-Hall of India.

• Maddala, G. S (2002), Introduction to Econometrics, John Wiley & Sons Ltd.

• Reserve Bank of India, website – www.rbi.org.in

• Reserve Bank of India (2001), Handbook of Statistics on Indian Economy.

• Reserve Bank of India (November, 2006), Report on Trend and Progress of Banking in India 2005-06, Table III.29.

• Shepard, R. W (1953), Cost and Production Functions, Princeton University Press, Princeton NJ.

