BIBLIOGRAPHY

Broadhead, et.al. (1990): Depression, disability days and days last from work in prospective epidemiological survey, JAMA, 264, 2524.

Esparon, J. et.al. (1986): Comparison of the prophylactic action of flupenthixol with placebo in lithium treated manic-depressive patients, Br. J. Psychiatry, 148, 723-5.

(viii)

Hasses, M.I. et.al. (1987): Prevalence of diabetes and impaired glucose tolerance and plasma glucose levels in U.S. population aged 20-74 years, Diabetes, 36, 523-34.

Okuma, T. et.al. (1981): A preliminary double blind study on the efficacy of carbamazepine in prophylaxis of manic-depressive illness psychopharmacology (Besl), 73, 95-96.

Pollack, S.J. et.al. (1994): Mechanism of Inositol monophosphatase, the putative target of lithium therapy, Proc. Natl.

Post, R.M. et.al. (1983): Prophylactic efficacy of carbamazopine in manic-depressive illness, Am. J. Psychiatry, 140, 1602-4.

and Biochemical comparison of lithium and

Rapoport, S.I. and Bosetti, F. (2002): Do lithium and anticonvulsants target the brain Arachidonic Acid cascade in bipolar disorders,. Archive Gen.
Psychiatry, 59 (7), 592-596.

Ratanendra, K. et.al. (2000): Gender difference in resolution of mania, Indian J. of Psychiatry, 42 (2), 198-200.

Ratanendra, K. et.al. (2000): Genomic imprinting in bipolar affective disorder, Indian J. of Psychiatry, 42 (2), 167-170.

Roy, H. et.al. (2002): Effect of abrupt change from standard to low serum levels of lithium, Am. J. Psychiatry, 159, 7, 1155-1160.

