Latrine and urinals constructed adjacent to the river Ganga at Halisahar, in the District of 24-Parganas (N), West Bengal, India.

Sewage Lifting Station constructed near Shyamnagar Railway Station, in the District of 24-Parganas(N), West Bengal, India.
Sewage Treatment Plant constructed near Jagaddal Railway Station in the District of 24-Parganas(N), West Bengal, India, often found non-functioning.
Animal carcass is seen floating in the river Ganga at Naihati, in the District of 24-Parganas (N), West Bengal, India.
Sanitary latrine and urinals constructed adjacent to the river Ganga at Halisahar, in the District of 24-Parganas (N), West Bengal, India is shown submerged during flood in the year 2000.
Filthy water is discharged into the river Ganga through a drain without any treatment at Naihati, in the District of 24-Parganas (N), West Bengal, India.

Sanitary latrine and urinals constructed adjacent to the river Ganga at Naihati, in the District of 24-Parganas (N), West Bengal, India.
Filth and waste waters discharged from civic areas are thrown into the river Ganga through a drain without any treatment, near Naihati Ferry Ghat in the District of 24-Parganas (N), West Bengal, India.