The journey from developing an urge to think for undertaking this research study to the completion of the thesis and passing through all the stages of conceptualisation, developing the research question, phases of the study and writing the thesis, would not be complete unless I acknowledge the contributions of all who have helped me all these moments, directly or indirectly, and thank them while presenting this report on study. I thank them all individually and personally.

My first deep gratitude is conveyed to Dr (Capt.) C.M.Chitale, the guide of this study who not only guided me at every step of the research but also instilled in me the confidence throughout the process. Without his continued guidance and support I would not have completed the entire research study. I thank him for all his guidance and support he bestowed on me.

I thank from deep of my heart my wife Reeta, daughters Parul and Priya, and my son Vishnu who have provided me emotional support during entire period of my study and encouraged me at every step from beginning to the concluding of the study.

This study would not have been thought and completed without the support and response of all those from the participating organisations, who provided the required and information and data with feedback for this. I acknowledge their contributions and thank them all.

I would also like to thank all my friends and colleagues who provided me necessary inputs and assistance in preparing the reports for different phases of the study and the thesis. My specific thanks are for Mr. Tushar who assisted and helped me with computer technology in conducting the study and preparation of the reports.

I conclude my thanks with respect to my parents who have always inspired me for higher studies in life and this research study also.
