CHAPTER-VII

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Block, J.H. and Block J. (1980). The role of ego control and ego resiliency in the organization of behavior.

Jain, Maradulla (1990). The impact of adjustment frustration and level of aspiration the children of working and non working mothers PhD thesis of Agra university. Fifth survey of educational research, P. 888.

Jessica Al-Banna, Elon University, Maternal Employment and Scholastic Achievement Evidence from North Carolina.

Landry, S.H. Swank, P.R. and Denson’s (1997). Effects of medical risk and socioeconomic status on the rate of change in cognitive and social behavior.

Mohite Home Environment Inventory (MHEI) child observation technique by Prema Mchilte (Beroda).

Wakefield, (2004). Does the maternal employment have a negative effect on child development? Child development research paper CADV 150, 2 Pm class PP 1-11.

Sadair, Shashikant (Nov. 2009). Happy parenting special, Grih Laxmi

Biagioli, Frances. “Returning to work while Breastfeeding.” American Family Physician 68 (December 1, 2003) : 2201-17.

Admin (2010), www.ygoy.com/index.php/ is it true that the working mother are better mothers ?

Silky Chandvani, (October 18, 2010), www.themedquru.com/20101018/news feature kids of working nums perform better at school-study.

Timesfindia.indiatimes.com/life/debate Do-working mother educate-their-kids-better/debatesho.

Shah, N.K., (1959) : Application of Draw-a-man Scale Performance Test in city children of Gujarat – ages 6 to 10,

--::0::0::--