ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At the first instance, I acknowledge with gratitude the help and advice received from Professor Alak Ghosh of the Department of Economics, University of Calcutta. His constant encouragement and enthusiastic support enabled me to take up the present work.

I am thankful to Professor Manibhushan Sanyal and Professor Anil Kumar Mukherjee of the Department of Commerce, University of Calcutta, whose valuable suggestions were of considerable help to me.

I must also thank Shri S. Sengupta, Librarian, University of Calcutta, Dr. (Km.) Jayati Roy, Librarian, Commercial Library, Govt. of India, Calcutta, Shri M.N. Bhattacharjee, Development Officer, State Bank of India, for their help and co-operation. I further thankfully acknowledge the assistance received from Shri Sanat Kumar Maity of I.S.I.
