"Thoughtless people are apt to think a brickmaker more of a producer than a clergyman. When a village carpenter makes a gate to keep cattle out of a field of wheat, he has something solid in his hand which he can claim for his own until the farmer pays him for it. But when a village boy makes a noise to keep the birds off he has nothing to shew, though the noise is just as necessary as the gate."

Bernard Shaw (1928), p. 23

"But the recent past blends into the immediate future and shapes its course, and it is only human to look for signs of continuity or change in recent experience."
