BIBLIOGRAPHY

Besides the books and journals mentioned in the 'Notes and References' sections of Chapters I, II, III, V, & VI a large number of relevant materials were also studied and consulted during the course of the present research work. In this Bibliography all the books and journals which helped the present researcher directly or indirectly are included for ready reference.

Kabbarak bhaeak likhitorum Utteron, (Deviving a writing system for Kagbarak), Calcutta, 1967.

Danda, B. Among the Dimasa of Assam, New Delhi, 1978.

Endle, S.

Fries, C.C.
Teaching and Learning of English as a Foreign Language, Ann Arbor, 1945.

Gait, E.

Gleason, H.A.

Halle, M.

Harris, R.T.

Harris, Z.S.
Structural Linguistics, Chicago, 1951.

Hockett, C.F.
A Course in Modern Linguistics, New York, 1953.

Hooper, J.

An Introduction to Natural Generative Phonology.

Hyman, L.

Hakobson, R.

Fant, G. and Halle, M. Preliminaries to speech analysis
Cambridge, 1952.

Jones, D.

Kahn, D.

Syllable based generalisations in English Phonology
Bloomington, 1976.

Kenstowicz, M. and Kisseberth, C. Generative Phonology Description and Kiparsky, P.

"Linguistic Universals and linguistic change", in Bach,
E. and Harms, R.(ed.). Universals in Linguistic theory,

Kundu, R.

"English text books and tribal pupils", in CRPE News-

Lado, R.

Linguistics across culture, Ann Arbor, 1957.

Pike, K. Tone Languages, Ann Arbor, 1948.

Stanley, R.

Vennesann, T.

Wilson, R.D.  