ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It was the candidate's good fortune that he heard on many occasions from Dr. (Mrs.) Lila Maitra, M.A., Ph.D., Lecturer of the Department of English, Calcutta University, about the different aspects of DAME EDITH SITWELL as a poet. The candidate expresses his profound respect and deep gratitude to Dr. (Mrs.) Maitra for generously providing all possible facilities in her Department, her encouragement, care and guidance throughout the progress of this work, and her constructive criticism of the material. She generously provided all help even when she was sick.

The candidate avails of the privilege to express his deep gratitude and profound respect to Professor Jyoti Bhusan Bhattacharjee, M.A. (Cal. et Leeds), Head of the Department of English, Calcutta University, for his good wishes and valuable suggestions in every difficulty.

The candidate expresses his sense of indebtedness to Mr. Sacheverell Sitwell, youngest brother of Dame Edith Sitwell, her nephew and Literary Secretary Mr. Francis Trajan Sitwell for their encouragement and good wishes.

It is impossible to indicate in full the candidate's indebtedness to the well-wishers Mr. S.K. Maiti and Mr. V. Raghunathan for their good wishes, help and co-operation during the progress of the work.

The candidate is also thankful to his all other well-wishers who have contributed unnoticeably to this work.

Department of English, Calcutta University, APRIL 1980.
