Acknowledgement

It is very disheartening that, just a few days before completing the present dissertation, my father passed away, who was my source of inspiration for doing this hard task. I have no words to express my debt to him.

I am highly indebted to my teacher Prof. (Dr. Mrs.) Krishna Bhattacharya for constantly providing me with her invaluable guidance, active help and constructive criticisms.

I am very much thankful to my teacher Prof Satya Ranjan Banerjee for suggesting the topic of this research work. My debt to him is immense as this work could not have emerged had not Prof. S. R. Banerjee introduced me to such a new area of study.

I am grateful to my linguistic mentors: Prof. Subhadra Kumar Sen, Prof. Mrinal Kanti Nath, Dr. (Mrs.) Sumita Bhattacharya (Bhaduri), Prof. K. K. Rarhi (Sanskrit College), Mr. Selvyn Jussy, Prof. Swapan Kumar Banerjee (Netaji Subhas Open University) for teaching me Linguistics in a very fascinating way and for encouraging me to pursue it.

I express my hearty gratitude to Dr. R. K. Bhattacharya, Formerly Director of Anthropological Survey of India for providing me with Junior and Senior Research Fellowships, without which, it would have been very difficult for me to complete this work.

I am also very much thankful to Dr. R. K. Bhattacharya for publishing my article entitled “On The Language Of Modern Bengali Songs” in the journal of the Anthropological Survey of India. The article is very much related to the area of the present research work.

I am also grateful to Dr. S. B. Chakraborty, Dr. J. K. Sarkar, Dr. A. K. Singh, Dr. S. R. Das, Dr A. R. Das, Dr. H. K. Mandal, Dr. Pasupati Mahato, Mr. Manmathanath Haoladar, and the librarian Dr. (Mrs.) M. Banerjee of the Anthropological Survey of India, for constantly providing me valuable suggestions and information relevant to the present dissertation. I am very much thankful to
Dr. D. Tyagi, present Director of this survey for always encouraging me to complete this work successfully.

I am also highly indebted to Dr. Sukomal Chowdhury, Formerly Principal of Sanskrit College and late Prof. S. D. Pandey of Sanskrit College for selecting me as a part time lecturer at Govt. Sanskrit College for the last two years (1999-2001)

I am also very thankful to Dr. (Mrs.) Manjula Mitra, Dr. Pradeep Majumdar, Dr. Sadhan Sarkar and Dr. Jayanta Bhattacharya of Govt. Sanskrit College for helping me in every respect.

I am grateful to Dr. S. S. Bhattacharya, Head of the Language Division, Registrar General’s Office, Govt. of India for having offered his comments on this material in its nascent stages. I owe a lot to him for giving me fundamental education in questioning, reasoning and wondering.

I am also thankful to Prof. O. N. Koul, Formerly Director, C.I.I.L., Dr. A. K. Basu and Dr. P. N. Dutta Baruah of Central Institute of Indian Languages, Mysore, for selecting me as a participant in different workshops at C.I.I.L. at different times and also for their general assistance. I also express my thanks to the librarian of C.I.I.L. for allowing me to use the library, whenever I needed.

I am very grateful to Mr. Prasanta Chowdhury (Arranger & Music Composer of Modern Bengali Songs, H.M.V.) who helped me a lot in doing the metrical analysis of the songs.

I also express my hearty gratitude to Mr. Amal Banerjee of H.M.V. for helping me in every respect, while I was collecting data of this research study.

I feel myself lucky enough to get so much help, advice and encouragement from my doctor uncle, Dr. Ashoke Majumdar who being a doctor, has spent his valuable times writing songs and composing music for me. It is very interesting on his part that although he is a doctor, at the same time, he is a very good lyricist and music composer simultaneously.

Finally, my family deserves special thanks and credit for being a constant source of support, encouragement and co-operation from a long way. I could never have done it alone.
My mother cannot be just thanked - whatever I have achieved in my life so far is due to her only.

I owe a lot to my father-in-law, who always encouraged me to pursue my research work. I am also greatly indebted to my mother-in-law. It would have been impossible for me to complete this work, without her immense help. I also owe a lot to ‘Duma’ my husband’s aunty, who always helped me in every respect, whenever I needed.

Personally, I owe a lot to my friend Suman, who is my husband’s colleague too. I am proud to say that he played a very important and valuable role in giving a final shape to this dissertation. He spent his valuable time in typing many portions of this dissertation and above all we used his computer machine all throughout this work.

Thanks to Chandan, my friend, who always helped me with his software machine. For moral support, there are really too many people to thank. My friends Krishna, Chinmoy, Panu and my elder brother Debasishda provided me continuous and plentiful supply of energy and mental strength for keeping me sane and happy throughout my working period. I thank all of them for their caring presence in my sad and happy moments of life.

A very special thanks to Raj, my brother, for giving me strength to face the practicalities of life.

Writing this dissertation would have been a much more trying experience than it actually turned out to be, had it not been for the support received from my husband, Krishnajit Sengupta. He is my Friend, Philosopher and Guide. He spent hours after hours and days after days, typing this dissertation patiently, without uttering a single word of complaint. He has also been a great source of motivation throughout my academic career.

I am thankful to Saikat Sanyal and Amal Sarkar of our department for providing me all kinds of possible help, during this period.

I am grateful to Rakhi, my little sister, who worked for me all the time and who was always with me in both the sad and happy moments of life. Thanks to Mayadi for always being there with me.
Finally, I cannot express my feeling for my parents who influenced me tremendously to pursue this research work without expecting anything in return. My debt to them is unrepayable.

Above all my daughter Srija “to create” who came to this world just eleven months back, has made my work successful by her name itself.
