ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

When it comes to express the heart-felt gratitude towards, those who were life and soul to this work, my situation is empty summed up by the lines "when the heart is full, the tongue is silent". Words if they could be adequately used would perhaps still not suffice in bringing forth the totality of my gratefulness for those concerned. Nevertheless, I will certainly not spare this fortunate opportunity of conveying my feelings in all their humbleness.

The immense and generous help, compounded by the expert guidance and constant encouragement extended by Dr. B.S. Jain, M.S. Head of the Department of Ophthalmology, M.L.B. Medical College, Jhansi has imbibed in me an unflagging zeal for this work. His ready accessibility, even at his personal inconvenience, and heartening words provided the self confidence so vital for undertaking such a project. This study caries the glittering imprints of his dynamic personality, wise and concrete suggestions and meticulous attention to detail. I am very fortunate to have been graced by his love and blessings.

For Dr. V.K. Misuria, M.S. Associate Professor in Ophthalmology, I have deep respect. He was a source of unlimited help and profound knowledge without freely banking upon which it would have been impossible to complete this work. His discerning criticism, seasoned rationale and affectionate nature were a constant beacon of moral support to me.
All of my colleagues and friends, whose co-operation and painstaking help are unaccountable, deserve a special word of thanks especially Dr. Ashutosh Khandelwal and Dr. Monika Gupta.

At this moment of glory and award I humbly accept that all credit actually goes to my parents and wife Charu. Their affection, sacrifices and patience have made all this worthwhile.

My heartfelt gratitude and thankfulness is for the patients who were the base of this project to all of them I have to say "Without you this could not have been possible".

Anant Vir Jain