Acknowledgement

I express my sincere gratitude and regard for my teachers Dr Sudakshina Kundu and Dr Dipankar Biswas whose guidance and encouragement has helped me to bring forth this thesis. I also wish to express my sincere gratitude to Prof B R Nag, Prof. P K Basu and Dr J B Roy of the Institute of Radiophysics and Electronics, Calcutta University, for their valuable suggestions.

I am very thankful to Prof. B. M. Arora of the Tata Institute of Fundamental Research, Bombay, for providing experimental data. I also wish to express my sincere gratitude to late Prof. P. N. Butcher of the University of Warwick, for taking keen interest in the work on thermopower and for his valuable suggestions.

I acknowledge the financial support that I received from the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research. I also wish to thank the Computer Centre, Calcutta University for the computing facilities they provided.

I am indebted to my family for their unflinching support without which this would never have been completed. I am also thankful to my friends and co-workers Smt. Sumita Raychaudhuri, Sri. Sudipto Dasgupta, Sri. Satyajit Chakraborty, Smt. Madhumita Das, Smt. Sanghamitra Mukherjee, Sri. Kanad Mallik, Smt. Mitali Pramanik, Smt. Shampa Pal, Sri. Santanu Sanyal, Sri. Samir Mondal and many others. I regret I cannot name them all.
