ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In writing and completing this dissertation, I owe a lot to the efforts and cooperation extended by various people.

Firstly, I am extremely indebted to Professor T.K. Oommen. He has played a crucial role in shaping my academic sensitivities at various stages of my academic life. But for his patience, tolerance and unflinching help which he gave me throughout the course of this study right from the formulation of the problem to correction of drafts, this study would not have reached its present state.

To the people of the four villages studied, Jol, Katol, Parabiya and Meghaliya, I am thankful for their warm and ready cooperation. Many of them went out of their way to help a stranger in his research work.

Thirdly, I am grateful to the cooperation extended by Shri Raghubir Singh Thakur, Shri Janak Chauhan and Shri G.G. Zaz. In addition, I thank Shri Jashbhai Chaturbhai Patel of Jol, Shri Govindsinh Nurwursinh Gohil of Katol, Shri Kantibhai Kishorbhai Patel of Parabiya, Shri Nathubhai Haribhai Patel and Shri Jashbhai Patel of Jorapura, Shri Lakhabhai Somabhai Jhala and Shri Sursinh Ramsinh Chauhan of Meghaliya for helping me in ways more than one during the course of this study.

I must acknowledge my gratitude to Shri B.D. Pande, Librarian, International Cooperative Alliance, New Delhi, and his two able and efficient assistants, Shri Ram Prakash and Shri V.S. Rawat, for their ready help. In addition, I thank the Librarian and the staff of the following libraries for letting me make use of their libraries:

* Smt. Hansa Mehta Library, M.S. University of Baroda, Baroda
* Jawaharlal Nehru University Library, N. Delhi
* Nehru Memorial Museum and Library, N. Delhi
* Centre for Social Studies, Surat
* National Archives, N. Delhi
* Library of the Registrar General and Census Commissioner of India, N. Delhi
* Library of Department of Civil Supplies, Ministry of Agriculture, Krishi Bhavan, N. Delhi
* Library of Directorate of Economics and Statistics, Department of Agriculture and Cooperation, Ministry of Agriculture, Krishi Bhavan, N. Delhi

I also thank Shri Manubhai Patel, Chairman of Amul, and Dr. A. Joseph of the Indian Dairy Corporation, Baroda, for their assistance.

I am indebted and obliged to numerous other colleagues, friends and relatives who have helped in ways more than one. In the end, I thank Shri Kanubhai A Patel for typing this dissertation.