Preface

This dissertation is on the agrarian history of colonial Malabar. The scope of this inquiry is discussed in detail in the Introduction.

I am most grateful to Dr. Neeladri Bhattacharya for introducing me to the study of agrarian history. His comments on the existing state of economic history writing in India and his views on the kind of economic history to be written, provided me very valuable insights. The course work done with Professor Sabyasachi Bhattacharya and his critical comments on the draft were of immense help.

I sincerely thank Professor K. N. Panikkar who supervised my dissertation for his general guidance. I am grateful to him for letting me formulate the problems according to my conceptions.

Finally I am indebted to the staff of the National Archives, Central Secretariat and J. N. U. Libraries, New Delhi, Tamil Nadu Archives, Madras and the Regional Archives, Kozhikode for helping me collect data.
