1) To study the gross abnormalities in the lymphnodes of sheep and goats. The lymphnodes, viz. submaxillary, prescapular, bronchial and mesenteric will be examined for the purpose.

2) To isolate bacterial and fungal agents from the lymphnodes showing any sort of abnormality.

3) To study the histopathological changes in some selected lymphnodes representing typical pathological picture.

4) To evaluate the role of different agents in causing lymphadenitis in sheep and goats in order of frequency of their occurrence and suggestions for remedial measures.