ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The research on which this work is based was undertaken at Zahir Husain Centre for Educational Studies in fulfilment of the requirement for the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy of this University. Such a work necessarily has contribution from a lot of people.

Firstly I must offer my deep gratitude to my Supervisor, Dr (Mrs.) V. Veeraraghavan, for her scholarly guidance, inexhaustible patience and constant encouragement at all stages in the preparation of this thesis, that steered me through every problem and enabled me to present this work on time.

I am extremely indebted to children who served as subjects for my study, without whose cooperation, the present study would not have been possible. I must express my sincere thanks to the parents of the students and the teachers of the schools for their cooperation and help in referring the children to me and allotting two classes in a week for the purpose. I am specially thankful to the Principal of the Navayug school for permitting me to conduct the intensive study of Phase II, for a period of one month and giving me every type of assistance possible.
My family members deserve special mention. In particular, I would like to thank my father, uncle and husband for their help in completing this thesis. My father-in-law, mother, brothers and sisters encouraged and inspired me throughout the period of this study.

I would be failing in my duty if I do not express my sincere thanks to my friends Rina and Gouri for their help.

I must also express my gratitude and thanks to the staff members of the library of JNU, NCERT, NIEPA, M.S. University and Vallabh Vidyanagar University for their assistance.

Finally, my thanks are also due to cartographer Shri Chinmay Nath and H.Bose for their assistance in drawing and typing of this dissertation.
