ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It gives me immense pleasure to express deep gratitude to my supervisor, Professor A. Ramesha Rao, who has been a guiding force all through this work. Without his excellent guidance, valuable discussions, constructive criticism and inspiring attitude, it would not have been possible to accomplish this task. I consider it to be a great privilege for getting the opportunity of working with him. I am also deeply indebted to my supervisor, Dr. R.K. Kale, for his keen interest, helpful suggestions and constant encouragement. It is difficult to express in words the guidance, help and affection extended by Professor Prasanna Mohanty, Dean, School of Life Sciences.

I am extremely grateful to Mr. Saini and Dr. S.K. Parida for photography, Mr. Alexander for technical assistance, Messers V.C. Tyagi and Surya Prakash Sharma for the regular supply of animals, U.S. Dalal for procuring chemicals on time, Kalicharan and Krishan Kant Upadhyya for their assistance in lab, Om Parkash, Pratap, Basant Lal and Banwari Lal for their help in animal maintenance and finally the staff of the School of Life Sciences for their administrative help.

I wish to convey my deep feelings for Dr. (Mrs.) Sudha Rao who helped me in sailing through a number of difficult situations.

It is my pleasure to thank my friends, Dr. Neera Bhalla Sarin, Mrs. Abha Agnihotri, Dr. Inam Dureja, Dr. Pratima Nangia, Selvan, Dr. Iramudi Ayene, Panigrahi, Ramana Kumari, Perwez, Jannu, Gowri Kumari, Anita, Karunakaran, Sandhya and Shehla and Satya Mahapatra for their invaluable help and support.

I also wish to thank all my friends with whom I have spent my memorable days in J.N.U.

There are no words to express my feelings for my parents, sister Rohini, brother Arvind, parents in law and my husband, Dinesh Pratap, who have always been by my side during this endeavour.

I gratefully acknowledge the financial assistance provided by the University Grants Commission and the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research, India.

A special word of mention is due to Mr. Bajaj for his excellent typing of the manuscript.

Aradhana