I acknowledge my deep debt and gratitude to my supervisor Prof. A.K. Ramakrishnan, currently Professor at West Asian Studies, School of International Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi, who was formerly Professor and Director at the School of International Relations and Politics (SIRP), Mahatma Gandhi University, Kottayam. I am thankful to him for his affection, support and guidance.

I express my gratitude to Prof. K. M. Seethi, Director, School of International Relations and Politics, Mahatma Gandhi University, for immense support and help for the completion of my research work. I am grateful to other faculty members of the school - Raju Thadikkaran, A.M. Thomas, Bijulal for their support and concern.

I am thankful to my fellow research scholars – Rejikumar, Joshy, Fr. John Karingattil, Asha Rani, and Sudeep.

I am thankful to the staff of Jawaharlal Nehru University Library, New Delhi; TISS Library, Mumbai; Hyderabad Central University Library, Hyderabad; School of International Relations & Politics Library; Sakhi Library and Mahatma Gandhi University Central Library.

This thesis happened not just because of reading rooms, but due to various political interventions and experiences. The life lived in these years with discussions and debates done with my colleagues and friends have helped in shaping this thesis. I thankfully remember the people who stood with me in my personal as well as political life.

I thank the people who gave me material for writing this thesis, who include Ushakumari, Sasi Panthalam, G. Arunima, Parthasaradhi, V.V. Swami, E.V. Anil and John Joseph.
I also thank Bindu K.C. and Yesudasan Sir who got involved in the discussions of the thesis and gave necessary directions.

I thank my friends who offered their help, support and constantly encouragement to write the thesis – Sreejith Divakaran, Arathi.P.M, Dileep Raj and Reshma Bharadwaj, Shiju Sam Varghese, Biji Varghese, Joby Mathew, and Jibu Thomas.

Sisterhood is not a matter of birth, but that of karma. My love and gratitude to Praveena, Bobby Jospeh, Dhanya M.D. , Sathi Angamali who were my sisters in politics, happiness and sadness. The debates with them have helped this thesis a lot.

I thank Abhilash, O. P. Ravindran, Sunil Kumar K, Daya, Rejikumar, Beena, Sarath, Parvathy, Jaseela, for supporting me with friendship and camaraderie.

I thank my siblings – Reshmi Raj, Remya Raj, Manju, Anu, Abu, Sunu and Chinthu who made my days beautiful with mischief and din. Daddy taught me to think politically and Mummy made me to live by my own choice - I remember them with deep affection and respect.

My deepest gratitude to Ammachi– my biggest source of strength and happiness. My uncle Sunny M. Kapickadu influenced me in shaping my political thoughts.

I thank Salsabeel Green School Thrissur, Sainaba Teacher, Hussain Sir, and friends of Kunjunni who indirectly played a crucial role in making this thesis possible.

I thank my dearest friend Sonia George. She’s been with me for the past decade in my joy, sadness, ecstasy, depressions and dreams. She’s my companion in politics, love, quarrel, provoking and engaging me in my everyday life. Without her, my life would have been something else. Words can’t express the role she played in completing this thesis. Thank you for your love, concern and quarrels.

Without a friend like Ashokan Nambiar, this thesis wouldn’t have seen daylight. He helped me realize the thesis in its present form, from beginning to end - correcting the draft, proof-reading and giving directions. It was realised from complete impossibilities.

There are no limits to the gratitude towards Sanju Surendran; and no attempts at making a thank you. He is a constant inspiration – from desperate life to hope and towards the completion of this thesis. His ever continuing support is remembered with warm gratitude.

During the last days of writing this thesis, Dhanya MD helped me as an all-rounder to complete this thesis. She stood with me in crucial times becoming part of this thesis. Thanks for her compassion, love and sisterhood.

For being a patient life partner, for helping me in dire times, for his compassionate love and care – I thank you Renuetta.

Last but not least for Kunjunni – his ever strong presence; limitless love and his sacrifice. Not with thanks but with a kiss I bequeath him all the love in this world.

Rekha Raj
