

Contents

List of Tables		iv
Acknowledgments		ix
Chapter 1	Introduction	1
	1.1 Stagnation of the Indian jute industry: demand and supply-side hypotheses	1
	1.2 An(alternative) analytical framework.	4
	1.3 An outline of the issues covered under the present study	7
	1.4 Plan of the study	14
Chapter 2	Trends of world consumption of jute manufactures	16
	2.1 Introduction	16
	2.2 Factors explaining the declining use of jute in developed countries	22
	2.3 Declining use of jute in the developing countries	33
	2.4 Conclusions	38
Chapter 3	International competition and domestic market	40
	3.1 Introduction	40

	3.2 Rivalry between India and Pakistan in the world export market	46
	3.3 Rivalry between India and Bangladesh in the world export market	57
	3.4 India's attempt to recapture her lost export market	62
	3.5 Importance of domestic market	67
	3.6 Conclusions	72
Chapter 4	Supply-side view of the industry	75
	4.1 Introduction	75
	4.2 Reducing the inventory cost	78
	4.3 Curtailing the raw material cost	82
	4.4 Reducing wage cost	89
	4.5 Conclusions	93
Chapter 5	The Long-run perspective and the Indian jute industry	95
	5.1 Introduction	95
	5.2 The industry's attempts for updating technology	95
	5.3 Factors pre-empting long-run investments	97

	5.4 Conclusions	105
Chapter 6	Summary and conclusion	107
	6.1 Introduction	107
	6.2 A summary	107
	6.3 Policy issues	124
	BIBLIOGRAPHY	140