ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the course of this research, I have received wonderful support and encouragement from so many persons as well as institutions. I take this opportunity to acknowledge and convey my thanks to all, who generously contributed to the work presented in this thesis.

First of all, I would like to extend my sincere gratitude to my thesis supervisor Prof. Sarmila Banerjee, Rajiv Gandhi Chair Professor, University of Calcutta for guiding me in carrying out this research. Unless she had given an opportunity to work with her as a project fellow in the ‘Rajiv Gandhi Chair in Eco-systems and Sustainable Development’, I may have never been introduced to the vast academia around urban ecology. I pursued my M.Phil. in the wetland ecosystems area under her guidance. Later, during my Ph.D. I started learning layers of urban environmental planning and management as a subject. I thank Prof. Banerjee not only for guiding me in research, her passion and enthusiasm have always motivated me and I started enjoying my journey. Every time I got stuck, she was always there to inspire me with her immense optimism. I would also like to thank my associate supervisor, Dr. Simanti Bandyopadhyay, Associate Professor, Shiv Nadar University for some fruitful discussion sessions in formulating the research problem in the framework of urban planning and management.

The work has been carried out with financial support from ‘Rajiv Gandhi Chair’. I am honored to be the recipient of this funding, especially for carrying out the field surveys, without which this research would never have been possible. I also gratefully acknowledge the funding received towards my PhD from the UGC Non-NET JRF Fellowship.

I am especially thankful to Prof. Anjan Chakrabarty, Prof. Sankar Kumar Bhaumik, Prof. Ishita Mukhopadhyay and other Ph.D. Committee members, of the University of Calcutta for their insightful comments on my work during the pre-submission public seminar. I also appreciate the advice and support from Prof. Rabindranath Bhattacharya of Kalyani University and Prof. Kausik Gupta of Rabindra Bharati University. I am grateful to Dr. Mahalaya Chatterjee and Dr. Sukanta Bhattacharya, the respective former and present Head of the Department of Economics, C.U., for extending institutional support throughout the work.

I am indebted to Dr. Dhrubajyoti Ghosh of IUCN for guiding me to understand vast richness of East Kolkata Wetlands as a subject matter of academic as well as policy discourse, to Dr. Sujit Chowdhury of PAN Network Pvt. Ltd. for explaining the GIS map with excellent clarity.

Special thank goes to Mr. Santanu Dasgupta and his team of National Field Service India (NFSI) for his immense help and support in conducting the field surveys. Without his sincere effort to follow up the households, quality the time diary entries would never be satisfactory. Inputs from veteran fishermen and garbage farmers from the field like Mr. Probhas Mandal (fisherman of Dhapa area), Mr. Dipankar Mandal of ‘Boro Chhoinavi’ Co-operative, Mr. Dilip Sarkar, Mr. Rabiram Mandal and Mr. Shadeb Kanji of ‘4 No. Bheri’ Fishery Co-operative, Mr. Satya Mandal (a veteran vegetable farmer of Dhapa) and many more have helped me in conceptualizing the issues at the ground level around EKW. I like to take this opportunity for expressing my heartiest thanks to all of them.

Comments and suggestions from anonymous referees of journals where different parts of research findings have been published/accepted/communicated and experts present at various International, National and State-level conferences, seminars and workshops where these papers have been presented, have contributed to sharpen the analysis. I would like to thank the organizers of different seminars, conferences and workshops by Department of Economics, Department of Geography, Center for Urban Economic Studies of University of Calcutta (CU), Jadavpur University (JU), University of Kalyani (KU), Indian Institute of Management Calcutta (IIMC), Indian Institute of Technology Bombay (IITB), Indian Institute of Forest Management (IIFM) Bhopal, Indian Institute of Population Studies (IIPS) Mumbai, Institute of Development Studies Kolkata (IDSK), Rabindra Bharati University (RBU) and Omeo Kumar Das Institute of Social Change and Development (OKDISCD) Guwahati, for giving me opportunities to present my research work. Special mention should be made for Prof. Haripriya Gundimeda of IITB, Dr. Byasdeb Dasgupta of KU, Dr. P.K. Biswas of IIFM, Dr. Shaswati Chaudhuri of OKDISCD, Guwahati, Dr. Simantini Das of RBU, Dr. Jenia Mukherjee of IDSK, Dr. Anindita Sen and Dr. Ranjan Basu of CU in this regard.

I would also like to express my gratitude to Prof. Anup Kumar Sinha, Dr. Runa Sarkar and Prof. Raghabendra Chattopadhyaya of IIMC, Prof Ramprasad Sengupta of JNU, Prof. Joyashree Ray of JU, Dr. Soumyananda Dinda & Dr. Rajarshi Majumder of Burdwan University (BU), Dr. Santadas Ghosh of Visva Bharati, Dr. Rajdeep Sinha of TISS Guwahati, Dr. Malabika Dasgupta, Center for Urban Economic Studies, C.U., Dr. Lekha Mukhopadhyay of Jogmaya Devi College, Dr. Anupa Ghosh of Bhawanipur Education Society College, Kolkata for their insightful comments in various occasions. Interactions with Dr. Missaka Hettiarchchi of University of Queensland, Australia in a departmental seminar exposed me to the global concerns about urban wetlands. He has been kind enough to share his field experiences in his home town Colombo, Sri Lanka with me.

Regular interaction and encouragement from professors of CU like Dr. Arijita Dutta, Dr. Kumarjit Mandal, Dr. Anirban Mukherjee, Dr. Rabindranath Mukhopadhyay, Dr. Biswajit Ray made every minute of my stay in the institution educative and inspiring. Frequent visitors and other professors associated with the DSA Centre in Economics Department, C.U. should be acknowledged. In this respect, I thank Dr. Subhra Bagchi of Vidyasagar College for Women, Dr. Kausik Lahiri of Surendranath College, Dr. Saswati Sanyal of Rammohan College, Dr. Prasenjit Sarkhel of Kalyani University, Dr. Sabitri Dutta of Dum Dum Motijhil Rabindra Mahavidyalaya, Dr. Sudeshna Chattopadhyay of Barasat Govt. College, Prof. Sukanya Sarkhel of St. Xavier’s College, Kolkata, Dr. Joysankar Bhattacharya of IIM Indore, Dr. Mausumi Dutta of Presidency University, Dr. Saikat Sinha Roy of Jadavpur University for their proactive support.

Special thanks go to Dr. Jayita Bit of Calcutta Business School (formerly Rajiv Gandhi Fellow). She has always been there to interact with her ideas on related topics. We shared common interest on eco-system studies and she always motivated me with her extremely positive attitude during my low tides. Ms. Somdutta Banerjee, Research Scholar of C.U. has always extended her helping hand at the time of data entry. I would like to thank Dr. Subrata Majumder of Sundarban Mahavidyalaya and Dr. Montu Bose of Public Health Foundation, India for guiding me to carry out data analysis using statistical software. Prof. Sarmishtha Sen of Shyamshundar College, Burdwan, Prof. Shirsendu Mukherjee of St. Paul's Cathedral Mission College, Ms. Pratiksha Banerjee, Research Scholar, C.U. are acknowledged for their timely support till the last moment.

The research could never have been complete in due time, without the help forwarded by research assistants and summer interns during the mammoth task of data entry of two consecutive primary surveys. I would like to express my thanks to Ms. Madhura Dasgupta, PhD Scholar, University of Buffalo, USA, Ms. Rhitima Basu, MA student, Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics, Pune, Mr. Sampad Roy and Mr. Manish Kumar, M.Sc. Student, CU for their assistance. The Rajiv Gandhi fellows Ms. Basabdutta Chanda, Ms. Bindia Gupta are acknowledged for their inputs in eco-systems research.

The office and library staffs of Department of Economics, University of Calcutta should be acknowledged especially for their support: Mrs. Indrani Chakraborty, Mr. Tapas Dey and Mr. Barun Bagchi need special mention. Mr. Basudeb Dey of the Departmental Canteen along with Mr. Sanatan Chongdar, Mr. Haridas Das, Mr. Gopal Das are truly acknowledged.

Of course, real sense of belonging to this place developed through the day-to-day collaboration and cooperation, sharing of both the time of frustration and the moments of excitement with the team of fellow researchers and friends. I thank Ms. Somdutta Banerjee, Mr. Neelanjan Sen, Mr. Sayantan Bandhu Majumder and Ms. Namrata Sinha Roy, Ms. Riddhi Chatterjee, Ms. Sanghamitra Kanjilal Baduri, Mr. Debabrata Roy, Mr. Monoshij Majumdar, Ms. Shampita Das and many more for their support. My long time friends Dr. Hiranya Lahiri, Ms. Sulagna Halder, Mr. Tanmoy Ganguli, Ms. Gopa Ghosh have always been there to provide emotional support and confidence whenever required.

Words are not enough to express my gratitude to my family. I sincerely thank my parents Mr. Debashis Dey and Mrs. Chaitali Dey for always being there with their faith on me. If this final outcome can make them happy that would be my biggest reward. My sister Ms. Debarchana Dey was always with me through the journey. My mother-in-law, Mrs. Nibedita Basu took the entire responsibility of household during my research. Her love and care eased all the stress. Without her support, meeting deadlines and timely completion of the thesis would never be possible. My father-in-law Mr. Jyoti Kumar Basu always took interest in my progress. I wish to express gratitude to my husband, Mr. Jishnu Basu, who supported me with enough space and time to carry out my work in a better way. Without his unconditional cooperation and continuous inspiration, I could not have completed the thesis on time. I take this opportunity to thank my both sets of grandparents Mr. Murari Mohan Dey, Mrs. Malati Dey, Mr. Bholanath Pal and Mrs. Rama Rani Pal for their blessings and encouragements. I am really missing my old friend ‘Rabi-Dadu’, late Mr. Rabi Dhone Dutta, whose demise denied me the opportunity to witness his happiness on completion of this thesis.

Though all my teachers, friends, relations and mentors have extended their helps at every stage, I am solely responsible for all the remaining errors.
