Annexure D

Books written on Raja Rammohan Roy by others
This book was published in 15th August, 1913 by Sadharan Brahmo samaj. This brought an interest in the life and times of Raja Rammohan Roy.

This book was published under the auspices of the Rammohan Roy centenary committee on June 1933. It was a publicity booklet. It contained an account of his life and activities as well as other interesting items of information regarding his multi-sided career.
This book was published in 1941 from Sadharan Bramho samaj. It is a chronological collection of large number of materials from the contemporary newspapers and journals which throws an illuminating light on many dark corners of Raja Rammohan Roy’s endeavours for amelioration of the condition and moral upliftment of his fellow countrymen.

This book was published from Asiatic Society in 1975. It described the role of Raja Rammohan Roy in Indian Renaissance.
This book was published in 1982 by Sadharan Brahmo Samaj. It contained a short biographical sketch of Raja Rammohan Roy.

It comprises nine lectures by intellectual giants with an introductory lecture given by the late prime minister Indira Gandhi as a bicentenary tribute to him. It was published in 11th July 1988 by Orient Longman Publication.

This book was published by Penguin Books India on 20th October, 2012. Using relatively unexplored sources, this biography paints a fascinating portrait of the legendary maker of modern India.