Contents

Acknowledgement ............................................................................................................. 1

Table of Cases .................................................................................................................. 6 to 16

Chapter-1

Introduction .................................................................................................................. 17 to 41

I. Statement of Problem .................................................................................................. 17
II. Object of the Study .................................................................................................... 39
III. Methodology and Framework of the Study ................................................................ 40

Chapter-2

Concept of Minority and Its Status under International Law ........................................ 42 to 72

I. Concept of Minority under International Law ............................................................ 42
   A. General ...................................................................................................................... 42
   B. Distinctive Features ............................................................................................... 44
   C. The Present Concept of Minority ........................................................................ 45

II. Criteria to Define the term “Minority” ....................................................................... 47
   A. Objective Criteria .................................................................................................. 47
   B. Subjective Criteria ................................................................................................. 49

III. Status of Minorities under International Law ............................................................ 55
A. Status of Minorities under Article 27...56

B. Status of Minorities under the Declaration on the Rights of Persons Belonging to National or Ethnic, Religious or Linguistic Minorities 1992...65

(i) The Declaration...65

(ii) Legal Force of the Declaration...67

Chapter-3

Legal Status of Various Minorities in India.............................................................. 73 to 106

I. Who is Minority in India?...74

II. Various Recognized Minorities in India and their Legal Status...79

A. Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes...79

(i) Legal Status...79

(ii) Reservation in Educational Institutions...83

(iii) Reservation in Lok Sabha and State Assemblies...87

(iv) Additional Safeguards for Scheduled Tribes...88

(v) Commissioner for Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes...89

B. Backward Classes and other Backward Classes ...91

C. Linguistic and Religious Minorities...100

D. Anglo Indians...105
Chapter - 4

Constitutional and Legislative Protection of Right to Education of Minorities in India ............................. 107 to 151

I. Introduction...107

II. Protection of Right to Education of Minorities under the Constitution of India...109

A. Articles 25 to 30 of the Constitution of India...109
B. Concept of Equality and Minority Protection...117
C. Right to Education...120
D. Fundamental Rights and Directive Principles Relations in Case of Minority...124
E. Right to State Aid (Grant-in-Aid) for Minority...129

III. Right to Instruction in Mother-Tongue...131

A. At the Primary Stage...131
B. Advance Registration of Linguistic Minority Pupils...133
C. At the Secondary Stage...133
D. Extent of Implementation...133
E. Medium of Instruction...134

IV. Aligarh Muslim University Act 1920 and Minority Education...139

V. National Commission for Minorities Act, 1992...143

VI. National Commission for Minority Educational Institutions Act, 2004...146
VII. Conclusion...141

Chapter-5
Role of Judiciary in Determining the Scope of Right to Education of Minorities under Articles 29 and 30.............. 152 to 211

I. Meaning of Minority Educational Institution...153

II. Cultural and Educational Rights of Minorities...163

III. Permissible Limits of State Interfere in Administration of a Minority Educational Institution...175

IV. Admission of Minority Students...181

V. Constitution of Managing Committee...187

VI. Right of the Minorities to Establish and Administer Educational Institutions...194

VII. Right to Select and Appoint Principal and Teachers in a Minority Institution...197

VII. Conditions of Service and Disciplinary Proceedings...201

VIII. Prescription of Service Conditions...202

IX. Exercise of Disciplinary Powers... 204

X. Creation of Forum for Dispute Resolution ...209

Chapter-6
Concluding Observations and Recommendations.......................... 212 to 241

Bibliography................................................................. 242 to 246