The Author is highly indebted to Dr. A. K. Mukherjee, M.Sc., M.B.B.S., D.Phil. (Cal), D.T.M. & H. (L.Pool), F.R.M.S., Professor and Head of the department of Physiology, Presidency College, Calcutta, for helpful constant guidance, useful suggestions, corrections and permission to continue his work in the department. The author is also indebted to the Principal, Presidency College, for his permission to work in his College and using the instruments.

The author cannot but express his deep gratitude to Mr. N. C. Bose, M.Sc., for unexpressable help in framing, writing, scrutinising the work with untiring diligence and labour and to the students of Eden Hindu Hostel who volunteered as his subjects.
