I like to express my deepest gratitude to my erudite Professor, Dr. Amalensh Choudhury, Head of the Department of Marine Science, Calcutta University, for suggesting the problem, valuable, illuminating and unfailing guidance and encouragement to explore the rigorous virgin part of Sundarbans mangrove environment and for the preparation of this dissertation.

I also gratefully acknowledge the invaluable facilities rendered by the authorities of 'Susama Devi Choudhurani Marine Biological Research Institute' Sagri Island, Sundarbans, West Bengal, India.

I also express my sincere gratefulness to the authorities of the department of Zoology, Calcutta University, for allowing me to enjoy the laboratory and library facilities in the department. I express my deep regards for all the reverend Professors of the department of Zoology.

Most gratefully, I acknowledge the financial assistance rendered by the Department of Science and Technology and Department of Environment, Government of India, to make this research programme successful.

Thanks are due to Dr. Maya Deb and Mr. Amalensh Misra of Zoological
Survey of Inc-5 for providing necessary help in the indentification of specimens.

I am indebted to Dr. S. Roy and Mr. T. Poddar of Department of Marine Science, Calcutta University for their suggestions and help in statistical analysis.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr. A. Ghorai of Indian Institute for the Cultivation of Science, Calcutta for his help in computer analysis.

My heartfelt thanks are due to Miss Ruby Das for her invaluable help in typing this dissertation and Mr. T. Talukder for taking up the photographs.

I take great pleasure to express my heartiest thanks to my research colleagues for their pleasant co-operation both in field and in laboratory.

I am indebted to Mr. Rishith Das, Pravat Gayen, Jalad Gayen, Madav Das, Sunil Thunia, Badal Bairagi for their valuable assistance in the field work.

I wish to record my deep sense of gratitude to my parents, elder brother, elder sisters, in-laws for their constant encouragement and help throughout the strenous period of my research work.

Thanks especially due to The Director, Zoological Survey of India, Calcutta, The Director, Indian Institute of Chemical Biology, Calcutta, The Director, Geological Survey of India, Calcutta, The Director, Central Inland Fishery Research Institute, Barrackpore West-Bengal, National Institute of Oceanography, Dona-Paula, Goa for allowing me to use their library.

Lastly, I regret my inability to acknowledge many other people who have helped me at various stages of my work, for reasons of brevity. Nevertheless thanks to all of them.