Dedicated to Almighty
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is a great pleasure to express my sincere thankfulness to all those who have helped me during the course of this investigation. I feel it is pride and privilege to express my deep sense of gratitude to my Supervisor Dr. Sucharita Sen for her excellent guidance. Her constant support, sincere supervision, scholarly suggestions and constructive criticism showed me the proper direction to this work. Without her encouragement, patient and forbearance with which she dealt my shortcomings, this thesis would never have been completed. It was a wonderful experience in terms of academic excellence and I shall carry the memory of my relation with her during this doctoral programme forever.

I am extremely grateful to Dr. Kapil Kumar Narula and Mr. Ashok Jaitly of The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI), New Delhi, for their cooperation and support to carry out my field work in Madhya Pradesh. Dr. Narula’s in-depth knowledge about several geo-hydrology of watershed provided useful insights in different stages of my research. I also thank him for giving me the opportunity to get involve in several watershed projects in TERI, which eventually provided me with hands on experience in the field of watershed management.

I am grateful to Prof Kulkarni, Prof Saraswati Raju and Dr. Milap Punia for having lively discussion on my work during my pre-submission seminar. I also thank other faculty member of CSRD for providing various kinds of help during the course of my study and investigation.

I extent my sincere thanks to Dr. Venkatesh Gupta of Allahabad University for his valuable inputs in undertaking econometric analysis. I am deeply grateful to all the officials of the watershed department in Ministry of Rural Development and Ministry of Agriculture. I offer my regards to Mr. Sachin Sinha, Commissioner and Mr. Vivek Dave Joint Director Rajiv Gandhi Mission for Watershed Management for their immemse help to procuring data and to undertake the field survey. I extend my sincere thanks to Mr. Biswakarma, Land Record officer, Ratlam, for his enormous help in procuring data on land use from different village patwaries. I am grateful to Mr. Thakur of Ministry of Agriculture to help me with data and also providing constant support during my trouble days in Ratlam. I also thank to the district collector, Ratlam, for his help in getting all the secondary information in the time when I was unable to move in the field.

My friends are always a constant source of support. I am really fortunate to have friends like Srinivasalu and Rakesh in JNU. I fondly remember my academic discussion with Srinivasalu particularly with regard to econometric analysis. His valuable inputs in undertaking quantitative analysis have been the source of inspiration to keep my learning interest in econometrics alive. Without Rakesh’s constant help it would have been impossible to complete the GIS based mapping. I am grateful to Anamika and Sakshi for their constant intellectual and moral support in completion of my thesis. My cordial thanks to Mr.Barua, Kit Thoper Dongper and Sakshi for their patience in helping with editing of the thesis.

I would like to extent my special thanks to my husband D. Shravan. Though it is difficult to elucidate his help and support here, but he was with me whenever I was in difficult position.

I should record my irredeemable debt to my parents, brother and pisi who have been a constant source of inspiration and without whose love, affection, encouragement and unfailing support, the submission of this thesis could not have been possible.

Finally I want to thank to Almighty for his grace and love in completion of this herculean tasks amidst of all the difficulties. I dedicate my thesis to Him, who has been my sole guide in the toughest days.
