Acknowledgement

I wholeheartedly express my sincere thanks to the Almighty Who carved my career to deal with children having special needs, moreover for showering his blessings to pursue this research work and making me more instrumental to selflessly contribute to the noble cause.

I express my deepest and unending gratitude to the ‘Light of my life’, my guide, Dr. A. Ramachary, Principal of Oxford B.ed college who motivated me to pick up the work which I thought I would never have been able to complete without his guidance. His constant motivation, energetic discussions, positive approach to deal with any obstacles and his critical subject knowledge has influenced me to accomplish my dream. His valuable guidance, answers to my never ending questions assisted me to transform my dream into reality. His role in my life as a guide, father and a friend has given a deep impact to my critical character.

I also extend my sincere gratitude to my co ordinator at JJT University for constantly being available to guide me whenever needed and always making me feel that he is always in my city to help me. With his valuable suggestions and guidance I was able to meet the University requirement in a very efficient way.

My heart felt thanks go to Dr. Tibrewala and the JJT University for shaping my dreams into reality. With their support and approval I was able to execute my thoughts and ideas through this research. Their openness to my proposal encouraged me to carry my research and they have indirectly contributed to the noble cause of helping children with special needs.

A deep gratitude to the authors whose tests were adopted in the research Mr. Schonnel (Schonell Graded Word Reading & Spelling Test- Level 2), and Dr. Winnie Dunn (Sensory Profile) without their tests this research would have not been possible. With my best possible efforts I could not get to reach them.
With all the sincerity and respect, I thank the Principals and the Counselors of all the schools that I had visited for my data collection. Without their kind permission and approval, my research would have been just impossible.

I also express my special thanks to Dr. Indu, who was with me throughout as a mentor to test Hypotonia, Dr. Sheetal Doshi, Physiotherapist, Dr Maya Nanavati, Occupational therapist who enlightened me with their knowledge on the topic of Hypotonia and dealing with these children in an effective way. The constructive discussions with them helped me to clarify my doubts and made my way to the research.

I unendingly thank my sample, my L.D children and their parents on whom the study was conducted. With their patience, availability and active cooperation, my research was truly possible.

My special thanks to all my staff members of ‘Urja’ who whole heartedly supported me, made me free to study by sharing my responsibilities and all my special kids at my centre who supported me and kept motivating me to complete my research.

I extend my thanks to our family astrologer Mr. Kavibhai, who purposely set a time target for me to complete my research which kept me motivated and on going.

My deepest thanks to my Psychology teacher, Mrs Sudha Pednekar, who introduced me to the field and always motivated me to pursue my goals. In all my adversities her guidance and motivation as a mother and mentor has always kept me optimistic. Her selfless contribution to my life is inexplicable.

I extend my deepest gratitude to the librarians of Mumbai University, British Council Library, Mumbai, Oxford B.ed college, Mumbai, Loloya college library, Kerala. Also a special thanks to all my colleagues and friends, Dr. Darpana, Dr. Raviraj, Dr. Nehal and Dr. Indu who lent their books on Occupational therapy that helped me finding some relevant studies and information pertinent to my topic.
Lastly, I record my greatest gratitude to the three leading women in my life, my mother Smt. Jagruti Parekh, my wife Smt. Pooja Parekh and my angel daughter Ms. Shanaaya Parekh who all encouraged me, compromised their happiness for me to make me reach this level of education today. The completion of this thesis was solely because of their support and pressure.

I express my hearty thanks to all the individuals who have directly or indirectly assisted and supported me in my study.

(Mr. Mihir Parekh)
