I have been endowed with help and assistance from various quarters to complete this thesis. I take this opportunity to convey my heartfelt gratitude to each and every one of them.

Foremost among them is my supervisor Professor Rajat Datta. His kind and patient supervision made it possible for me to complete my thesis. This work would not have attained its present shape without him. He, like 'Guru Dronma', has initiated me into a good training and suggested all possible improvements in our every fortnight or monthly meetings throughout my research. I hope, I have been able to incorporate fully into my thesis all those valuable suggestions he offered from time to time. I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to him for his supervision and teaching me professionalism, punctuality, discipline and accuracy in work.

I am thankful to the staffs of Jawaharlal Nehru University Library, Department of Special Assistance, Centre for Historical Studies Library, Nehru Memorial and Museum Library, Central Secretariat Library, National Archives of India, (specifically Ma’m Jayaprabha Ravindran and Sanjay Garg for their kind cooperation in guiding me through the Company records.) New Delhi, West Bengal State Archives and National Library, Kolkata, Kashi Prasad Jayaswal Research Institute and Khuda Baksh Oriental Public Library, Patna, for their kind cooperation in allowing me to refer materials over there.

I am also thankful to the University Grant Commission for the award Rajiv Gandhi National Fellowship for my research.

I am highly indebted to Bidisha Srivastava for copy-editing my entire thesis in a very short period of time.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not express my gratitude to my elder sister Nirmala for her endurance and indefatigable support to family and me. I would also like to thank my Mamu, Mr. P.C. Das, for everything.

Family always followed by friends who became my family or made me their, specifically, Yogi, Bipin and Rajendra and Bhauiji (Mrs. Sula Devi) a consistent source of encouragement and stability in my life. I cannot imagine myself without them.

My heartfelt thanks are due to Avinash, Kailash Da (Ashit Kumar Das) and Boudi for their overextended support in my stay in Kolkata.

I am highly indebted to Chhotu, Chachi, Chacha, Pinky and Baua for including me in their family during their most critical hours and specifically, Chachi for giving me a 'home' in Patna.
I would like to express my sincere apology and heart-felt thanks to Pan-Africana (Jasho) and Traveller (Anuj) for my 'Ooh La La' threats and everything we shared and lived through since 2003 and 2007 respectively in JNU during my research; to African-Safari (Dileep) and Purple Instincts (Pranav) for bearing with my loud music and for their 24×7 brotherly presence with Licchi juice and snacks in my late night works; Haji Ali (Alok) and The Sun Light (Suraj) for their all welcome attitude in their corner rooms and I must mention my gratitude to Haji Ali for his last minute proof-reading; Jat Amla (Vinay) for his 'Aam Bagan' trip and tight-humoured hospitality with mangoes; Nutts (Natbar) and Bolt (Pramod) for their help and funny presence in my life, specifically Bolt for his last minute proof-reading and Youth for Equality (Brundabana) for his ever-ready presence in my need and his impatient necessity in my life. I am also very thankful to Sweety Pie (Tanvi Hooda), Mishti Doi (Shirin Zaidi), Saat Samandar Paar (Ruchika), Good Friday (Esther), for helping me in cross-checking my references, and Purple Lady (Vartika) for their stress buster smiles and happy intrusion in my isolation, with ready solutions to my needs. I am grateful to Babu Moshai (Sudhir), Mr. D.V.D. (Sanket) and Thug of Benaras (Anand) for their positive responses to my distant demands.

I am hopeful to fulfil all the expectations of my teacher and parents.

Santosh Kumar Malua
A Map of Bengal, Bahar, Oudh and Allahabad with part of Agra and Delhi exhibiting the course of Ganges from Hardwar to the Sea by James Rennell, 1786, NAI, Historical Maps Printed and Published, PP. 01661.