First and foremost, I owe deep sense of gratitude to all those known and unknown scholars, who have worked out their research on the automobile industry. They not only inspired but also made me interested to choose this important field of study for my research work. I am much indebted to and have a great sense of respect for my esteemed supervisor Prof. Atiya Habeeb Kidwai for her unstinted support, diligent efforts, healthy criticism, encouragement and constructive suggestions without which this work would never have evolved.
