ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am highly indebted to Dr. S. P. Tiwari, my Supervisor for his invaluable guidance, critical acumen and scholarly discussion during the period of this research. It is he who inculcated in me the interest for reading the novels of Indian writers in English and finally he selected this topic for my dissertation. Whenever the writing of this thesis faltered, he took extra care to guide me in the right direction. I am grateful to him for he showered on me child like affection and inspired me like a true guardian and wellwisher.

My mother Mrs. Kaushilya Sen created in me love for English literature and gave full motherly affection to pursue my higher studies. My father Mr. Udai Kumar Sen did not lag behind he supported me to grow and achieve my goal of life. I have no words to express my obligation for their blessings.

I am thankful to my sisters Shalini Sen, B.M.S, Malini Sen, Fashion Designer and Raja Sen for their encouragements from time to time.

I am obliged to Mr. V.S. Tripathi, Supt., Community Health Centre, Badlapur for his constant inspiration to complete this work in time.

I express my thankfulness to the librarians of B.H.U., Varanasi and V.B.S. Purvanchal University for their co-operation in making me available the reading material I needed.
