

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
Acknowledgments	i-ii
Introduction	1-11
Chapter- 1
Concept of Security: A Framework for Analysis	12-79
1.1. The Concept of Security	12
1.2. Classical Approach to Security	18
1.2.i Realism	18
1.2.ii. Neo-Realism	25
1.3. Collective Security: Prospects and Peril	30
1.4. Security and the Paradigm of Idealism	33
1.5. Institutional Approach to Security	37
1.5. i. Non-Alignment Movement and Security	38
1.5.ii. The United Nations and Security	40
1.6. New Collective Security	45
1.7. The Rationalist Perspective	46
1.7.i The Systems Approach	46
1.7.ii. The Rational Approach	47
1.8. Economic Security	66
1.9. Environmental Security	72
1.10. Societal Security	76
Chapter- 2
Soviet Concept of Security:
Historical Perspective	80-119
2.1. Historical Background of Soviet Security	80
2.2. Lenin's Views on Security	82
2.3. Stalin's Approach to Security	85
2.4. Khrushchev's Period	92
2.5. Brezhnev's Period	97
2.6. Gorbachev's Period	107
Chapter- 3
Military Aspects of Security During Perestroika	120-164
3.1. Origin of Military Security During Perestroika	120
3.2. Components of Military Security During Perestroika	122
3.2.i Renunciation of War	123
3.2.ii. Prevention of Arms Race and Destruction of Chemical Weapons	125
3.2.iii Security is Mutual	136

3. 2.iv. Doctrine of Reasonable Sufficiency: Its Relevance	139
3.2. v. Disbandment of Military Alliances	147
3.2.vi. Reduction of Military Budget	149
3.3. Internal Changes in Military Thinking Under Perestroika	151
Chapter- 4
Political Aspects of Security During Perestroika	165-209
4.1. The Nature of Political Security During Perestroika	165
4.2. The Common European Home	171
4.3. Political Aspects of Universal Security	177
4.4. Regional Conflicts: Negotiations of their Settlement	181
4.5. Peace and Security in Asia and the Pacific	190
4.6. Confidence-Building and Zones of Peace	196
4.7. Prevention of International Terrorism	202
4.8. Changes in Eastern Europe: Its Relevance in Security of the Soviet Union	204
Chapter- 5
Economic Security During Perestroika	210-252
5.1. The Necessity of Economic Reforms	210
5.2. Restructuring the Economy	212
5.2. i. Economic Management	214
5.2. ii. Structural Reforms	218
5.3. Integrating to the Global Economy	222
5.4. The Problem of Convertibility	234
5.5. Reinforcing the Council of Mutual Economic Assistance (CMEA)	235
5.6. Soviet Union's role in International Economic Security	238
Chapter- 6
Humanitarian Aspects of Security	253-275
6.1. The Rationale Behind Humanitarian Security	253
6.2. Major Dimensions of Humanitarian Security	255
6.2. i. Domestic Dimensions	255
6.2. ii. External Dimensions	257
6.3. Impacts of Humanitarian Security	265
Conclusion	276-300
Bibliography	301-329
Appendices	330-338