CONTENTS

Introduction
1—7

Chapter - I  MAN: CONSCIOUSNESS AND THE WORLD — 8 — 43

1.1 Three Historical Approaches to the Problem: Descartes, Berkeley and Kant
1.2 Sartre’s Treatment of the Problem
1.3 Ontological Proof
1.4 Consciousness and Positional Consciousness
1.5 Some Similar Trends in the Treatment of Consciousness: Descartes to Sartre
1.6 Distinction between the World and Consciousness
1.7 The Role of Nothingness in Distinguishing Being-in-itself and Being-for-itself

Chapter - II  TWO INTERPRETATIONS OF FREEDOM — 44 — 111

2.1 Value, Determinism and Freedom
2.2 Determinism
2.3 Two Interpretations of Autonomy: Kant and Sartre
2.4 Free Choice and the Force of Circumstances
2.5 The Freedom of the Serious Men
2.6 The Anguished Freedom
2.7 Anguish and Fear
2.8 The Avoidance of Anguish through Bad Faith
2.9 Psychological Determinism and Traditional Moral Freedom
Chapter - III MAN: SELF-CONSCIOUSNESS AND THE LOOK — 112 - 144

3.1  Self – Consciousness : Other, Body, Space and Time  113
3.2  Shame, Fear and Pride as Original Reactions  120
3.3  Me and Other’s Look  126
3.4  Freedom and Foundation  137
3.5  Freedom Conflict and Love  138

Chapter - IV LITERATURE, CREATIVITY AND FREEDOM — 145 - 186

4.1  The Revelation of Contingency  146
4.2  Imagination : The Primary Way of Overcoming Contingency  154
4.3  Human Consciousness, Emotion and the World  159
4.4  Escape from Contingency through Literature  162
4.5  Freedom through Art  169
4.6  Escape, Bad faith and Authenticity  178

Chapter - V CONCLUSION  187 - 204
NOTES AND REFERENCES  205 - 224
SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY  225 - 231