REFERENCES

Dhunjibhoy, J. (1930) A brief resume of the types of insanity commonly met with in India with a full description of 'Indian hemp insanity' peculiar to the country. J. ment. Sci., 16, 254-264.

Fish, K.D., and Biller, H.B. (1973) Perceived childhood paternal relationships and college females' personal adjustment, _Adolescence_, 8, 415-420.

Hughes, C.C. (1960) 'Psychocultural dimensions of social change' In J.C. Finney (ed.), Culture, change, mental health and poverty, University of Kentucky Press.

Manorama Year Book (1976), Kottayam: Manorama Publishing House.

Neki, J.S. (1965) 'A study of public attitudes to psychiatric disorders', Cited in Neki, J.S., Problems of motivation affection the psychiatrist, the general practitioner and the public in their interactions in the field of mental health, Indian J. Psychiat., 8, 117-126.

Parsons, T., and Fox, R. (1952) Illness, therapy and the modern urban American family. J. Social. Issues, 8, 31-44.

