REFERENCE

REFERENCE

Brefeld, O. (1887): Untersuchungen aus dem Gesammgebeiteder Mykologie 8:223 Leipzig.

Brighigna, L; A. Gori; S. Gonnelli (2000): The influence of air pollution on the phyllosphere microflora composition of Tillandsia leaves (Bromeliaceae). REV BIOL TROP 48 (2-3).

Chitaley, S.D. and A. Bajaj (1973,74,75): Air spora of Nagpur at high altitude I (Botanique 4:27-34) II (Botanique 5:45-52) III (Botanique 6:59-68).

Grana 30:67-70.

Danin, A. and E. Ganor (1997): Trapping of airborne dust by Eig's meadow grass (Poa eigii) in the Judean desert Israel. Journal of arid environmenta 35 : 1

89th Indian Science congress Lucknow.

Dixit, R.B. and J.S. Gupta (1980): A comparative study of phylloplane and air spore of barley. Indian Phytopath. 33(2) 311-12.

Dowding, (1986): Leaf yeasts as indicators of air pollution, P-121-126 In.
N.J. Fokkema & J. Van Den Heuvel (eds). Microbiology of the phyllosphere. cambridge. University Press, cambridge.

REFERENCE

Kaufflman (1921): Isoachlya, a new genus of Saprolegniaceae Am. J. Bot. 8:

Prasad, K.B., B.B. Singh and S. Kumar (1990): Aeromycological study in rural area of Nalanda, J. Mendel. 7 (1) 29-40.

Reference

REFERENCE

Sinha, S.S; and K.B. Mishra (1988): Aerofungi of a rural area around Gaya-Ind. Aerobiol. 1 (2) 81-84.

Sharma, B.K. (2000): Environmental Chemistry 82-113, Krishna Prakashan Media (P) Ltd. 11, Shivaji Road Meerut- 25001 (U.P.) India.

