Acknowledgement

There is no alternative to nuclear weapons and ballistic missiles if you are to live in security and with honour. This was the feeling I developed while studying India's Ballistic Missile Programme. Initially the study looked stupendous and Herculian but the constant encouragement and consistent guidance of my Supervisor coupled with his liberal attitude, made this task easy and comfortable to me. For this, I express my sincere gratitude to Prof. Aswini K. Ray.

The collection of materials for this study was, no doubt, difficult, but the co-operation and cordiality extended by the staff of different libraries – American Centre, DRDO, IDSA, JNU, Sapru House, Teen Murti etc. – did not let me feel difficult at all. I am very thankful to all of them.

I also sincerely acknowledge the valuable suggestions given to me from time to time by Prof. S.N. Jha (JNU), Dr. Kalpana Chittaranjan, Dr. Rajiv Nayan (IDSA), and Dr. Ashok Behuria (Asst. Editor, Strategic Bulletin) and Dr. R.S. Yadav (Reader, Pol. Sc., K.U.K.).

Words are not sufficient to express one's feelings. In no way, I can express my gratitude to my wife, Funny and daughter Ipsa whose sacrifice, patience and valuable assistance helped me to submit this thesis in time. I also openly acknowledge my gratitude to my parents and other family members for their support and encouragement.

Finally, I would like to thank Mr. Devinder Kumar, for the pains he undertook and the enthusiasm he showed to type out my manuscript which was illegible at times.

Now that I am at the end of it all, there is an inescapable feeling welling up inside me: the study could have been bettered.
