Acknowledgement

During the slow and often interrupted evolution of this research work, I have accumulated many debts, only a few of which I have space to acknowledge. The research idea on the subject took root when the then teacher-in-charge of our college, Dr. Kalyan Rudra, asked me one day to think of some software solution in office automation for some of the routine functions in his office, as he knew that I had some experience in this field. I started thinking on the subject of office automation and management information system, and decided to forward a proposal to UGC for a minor research project, and it was granted, thanks to the officials and experts of UGC Eastern Regional Office, and thanks to the encouragement received from Dr. Chintaharan Sengupta (now the Principal of our college) and Dr. Somnath Ghosh, now a practicing Chartered Accountant and ex-teacher of our college, Sree Chaitanya Mahavidyalaya. Then I thought why not a research work for Ph.D. on the allied subject? I felt that developing a MIS Model for affiliated colleges can become a time relevant topic. And so I started the research work for Ph.D. under the supervision of Dr. Dhrubaranjan Dandapat, Professor in the Department of Commerce, University of Calcutta. I gratefully acknowledge the support and guidance received from him. I also take this opportunity to convey my thanks and gratitude to Professor (Dr.) Sudipti Banerjea for his continuous encouragement and valuable suggestions.

I am also greatly indebted to Sri Samir K. Sadhukhan of IIM Calcutta and Sri Provash Mukherjee of ISI for their generous guidance and rare spirit of offering the core mother concepts of DBMS programming, which enabled me to understand the ways of developing transaction processing systems.

I have received ideas, assistance, useful information and data from many other teaching and non-teaching staff of various colleges and institutes that I have visited as part of the fieldwork during the course of my research work. I convey my thanks and gratitude to each of them, the list of which is enumerated here.

Prof. Anil Saha, Jaipuria College, Kolkata
Prof. Anindita Chatterjee, Sris Chandra College, Kolkata
Dr. Anupam Chakraborty, Krishnanagar Government College
Dr. Arun Kr. Basu, University of Calcutta, Kolkata
Prof. Asish Mitra, St. Xavier’s College, Kolkata
Sri Brojogopal Chowdhury, DPI (Accounts), Govt. of W.B.
Dr. Debajyoti Chakraborty, Krishnanagar Government College
Prof. Nabarun Bhattacharjee, Sris Chandra College, Kolkata
Dr. R.N. Banerjee, Deptt. of Industrial Engineering & Mgt, IIT, Kharagpur
Prof. Samiran Sengupta, Baruipur College, South 24 Parganas
Prof. Sanjay Roy, Bangabasi College of Commerce, Kolkata
Prof. Sanjib Mitra, Sarsuna College, Kolkata
Sri Surojit Das, Maximus Infotech Private Limited, Kolkata
Sri Utpal Rakshit, Science College, University of Calcutta, Kolkata

All the members of the Ph.D Committee Calcutta University for their valuable suggestions in the departmental seminar.

And all members of teaching and non-teaching staff of Sree Chaitanya Mahavidyalaya, Habra, North 24 Parganas
IGNOU Eastern Regional Office, Salt Lake, Kolkata.

I would be failing in my duties if I do not acknowledge the support and cooperation received from my family members. Apart from the names mentioned, there are many others who contributed. They have contributed to my understanding of the complexities that exist in the environment of Indian higher education and that in its governance. I appreciate their help and thank them for their support.

Subhendu Saha
Kolkata
2014