I could think of doing a study on a topic in the area of behavioural sciences because of my association with School of Behavioural Sciences, M.G University. The relevance of the subject in terms of understanding its relationship with health and disease prevailing in humans was highlighted in her lectures by Dr M.S. Razeena Padmam, who taught the subject while I was doing M.Phil. course in Behavioural Medicine and Rehabilitation. The course kindled interest to undertake a research in Behavioural Sciences.

Words are not enough to express my deep sense of obligation and gratitude to my guide Dr. M.S. Razeena Padmam, Former Professor and Director, School of Behavioural Sciences, Mahatma Gandhi University for her expert guidance. Without her wholehearted support and encouragement, I would not have completed this research. When I stumbled at certain period of the study, creative criticism and timely advice of madam was leading me at every stage of the study.

I express my deep gratitude to Dr M.K C Nair, Founder Director, Child Development Centre (CDC Kerala), Medical College, Thiruvananthapuram and my mentor for continuous persuasion for undertaking advanced research in a particular topic, which may lead on to a doctoral degree. I also thank him in allowing me to use the facilities available at CDC Kerala and for providing full professional and administrative support throughout the study.

Dr. Paul S Russell, Professor & Head, Department of Child & Adolescent Psychiatry Unit, Christian Medical College, Vellore, Tamilnadu, for helping me with data analysis and interpretation.
I express my sincere thanks to Dr. Leena Sumaraj, Senior Research Officer, CDC-ICMR-ADOL Project at CDC, Kerala, without whose help I could not have completed the study. She was instrumental in helping me to gather data pertaining to this validation study.

I also place on record my debt of gratitude to Ms. Kumari M.S. Indira, Associate Professor of Child Psychology (Retd), now at CDC Kerala, who helped me in doing this study by administering the psychological tools among the children and Ms. Prasanna G.L., Developmental Therapist, CDC for helping me by administering CARS among the children.

The professional advice offered by, Dr. M. Zulfikar Ahamed, Professor & Head, Department of Pediatric Cardiology, SAT Hospital, will always be remembered. He is a brilliant teacher and my close associate. My obligation to Dr. G. Suresh Kumar, Registrar of CDC for his timely administrative help and Ms. S. Suja, Junior Programmer for her wholehearted support.

I acknowledge with gratitude the contribution of Mr. N. Asokan, P.A to Director, CDC, who helped me in preparation and multiple revision of the manuscript throughout the study period. He was a great motivator.

I also place on record the support given by all staff and students of CDC Kerala for my professional work and Mr. George Thomas my father, Mr. C. M. Thomas, my father-in-law, Ms. Mini Rachel Thomas, my wife Mr. Reuben & Mr. Kevin my children for their personal support.
