It is a pleasure to acknowledge the overall guidance, help and encouragement provided by my supervisor Dr. Dilip Sen. Time and again discussions with him brought out the real physics of the topics included in this thesis, as well as those not included. Equally pleasant "it" is to thank Dr. B. Dutta Roy of Saha Institute of Nuclear Physics, Calcutta for his guidance for the topics outlined in Chapters 3 and 4 and for numerous discussions on the topics outlined in other Chapters. It is due to his enthusiasm that I could apply for a U.G.C. teacher fellowship under Dr. Dilip Sen which made it possible for me to devote my energy to the completion of this work. I am grateful to Prof. R. Rajaraman for his kind hospitality for a month at the centre of Theoretical Studies, Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore. I was privileged to have several illuminating discussions, particularly, regarding some parts of the work described in Chapter 1. Thanks are also due to Prof. I. R. Afnan, Flinders University, Australia for a useful correspondence regarding parts of the work of Chapter 2. Sincere thanks are due to Prof. C. K. Majumdar (Palit Prof. of Physics, C.U.) and Prof. D. L. Bhattacharyya (Head of the Dept. of Physics, C.U.) for extending their kind assistance regarding my fellowship specially during the lien period of my supervisor, Dr. Dilip Sen from the Dept. of Physics, Calcutta University.

Next I wish to thank my collaborators who have kindly permitted me to use the material of joint and published work for my thesis. For Chapters 1 and 2 I am grateful to Dr. B. C. Samanta, Dr. J. Dey and Dr. T. Chakraborty whereas for Chapters

3 and 4, I am grateful to Dr. B.Dutta Roy, Dr. D.Bhaumik and Dr. G.Ghosh and Mr. A Chowdhuri. Thanks are due to Mr. T.Roy, Mr. T.S.Nag and my family members who have helped, directly or indirectly, during the period of this work. I am grateful to the U.G.C. for a teacher fellowship. I am also grateful to Dept. of Atomic Energy for travelling grants to symposia in 1977 & 1978.

Finally, I wish to dedicate this thesis to the memory of my father Late Sri Madanmohan Bhattacharyya of Bhatpara and to my daughters Damini, Rukmini and Joyoni Dey.
