ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Completion of this doctoral dissertation was possible with the support of several people. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all of them. First of all, I am extremely grateful to my research guide, Dr. Balaji Ranganathan, Associate Professor and Chairperson, Centre for Comparative Studies, School of Languages and Humanities, Central University of Gujarat, for his valuable guidance, scholarly inputs and consistent encouragement I received throughout the research work. This feat was possible only because of the unconditional support provided by Sir. A person with an amicable and positive disposition, Sir has always made himself available to clarify my doubts despite his busy schedules and I consider it as a great opportunity to do my doctoral programme under his guidance and to learn from his research expertise. I thank Dr. Naval Kishor Sharma, Head of Department, for the academic support and the facilities provided to carry out the research work at the Institute. The Board of Research Studies for their support at various phases of the programme.

Some faculty members of the Institute have been very kind enough to extend their help at various phases of this research, whenever I approached them, and I do hereby acknowledge all of them. I thank Dr. Sridhar Raheshvaran, Ex. Professor and Dean, School of Humanities, for his valuable suggestions and concise comments on some of the research papers of the thesis. Prof. A. K. Singh and Prof. Sanjay Mukherjee have extended their support in research analysis and I thank them for their contributions.

The thesis would not have come to a successful completion, without the help I received from the staff Shreeji Computer especially of Mr. Pankaj Patel, Mr. Janakbhai and Mr. Hemant Shah for their constant help.

No research is possible without the Library, the centre of learning resources. I take this time to express my gratitude to all the library staff for their services. Dr. Nigam, the Librarain and rest of his staff. Dr. Hosamani, and other staff of Inflibnet Centre, has been very informative regarding the e-resources. Similarly Ms. Huta Raval and Dattatrey Kulkarni from British Council have been immensely helpful to me in the access of both e-resources as well as hard copies of the books related to my research.

Dr. Bhakti Vishanav, Dhwani and Dr. Maulik Vyas, faculties in various prestigious technical institutes, have always done their best to render whatever service they could and I heartily thank them for that. I thank Mr. Ram Sondarva and Mrs.
Sidhhi for their administrative help.

My colleagues Dr. S. B. Solanki, Dr. P. R. Patel, Prof. K. D. Parmar, Prof. Smita Nagrecha, Prof. John Mathhai, Prof. Mita Trivedi, Prof. Vijay Raval, Mr. Vinod Prajapati, Prof. Kakkad, Prof. Doshi, Prof. Dabhi, Dr. Jadav and Dr. Jappi have all extended their support in a very special way, and I gained a lot from them, through their personal and scholarly interactions, their suggestions at various points of my research. I also acknowledge my old pals, Mihir and Dhara Chotai for their well wishes.

I owe a lot to my parents, who encouraged and helped me at every stage of my personal and academic life, and longed to see this achievement come true. I am heartily grateful to my mother who stood by me as pillar against all kinds of odds by being invisibly with me all the time. My father, R. B. Gohil, being a chief accountant by profession, has been a resource person for economical matters and has never let me feel the difficulties and intricacies of understanding the economical aspects of the nation and paying Taxes, (Which is the most difficult task for any person from the field of Arts). I am wholeheartedly thankful to my elder brother Dr. Jaydeepsinh Gohil, Principal, Seth D. L. Law College. He spent various sleepless nights to discuss with me the legal and constitutional aspects that played their significant role in making the nation and even passing some of the useful materials as well. I am equally thankful to my bhabhisa Mrs. Tanuraje Gohil for sparing her quality time for proof reading and correction of my thesis. I dare not to forget the love and lightness of life brought by little nephew Raghvendra during the process of my research.

My field study was made less obstacle ridden because of the presence of a few individuals, Prithviraj Bhatti, Ministry of Coal, New Delhi, to help me in having access of National Archives New Delhi and taking the responsibility to send me the needed photocopies of the unpublished letters whenever I asked for, my cousin Kuldeepsinh and his wife to help me in finding material from the libraries of London, Mr. Ajaysinh Jadeja for being always ready to help me in any matter whatsoever. Curators of Museums and archives all over the India, be its Tagore Baadi, Kolkata, Archives of Pune or Gandhi Ashram, Ahmedabad, Watson Museum, Rajkot, all of them have been very much cooperative in the process of my research.

Above all, I owe it all to Almighty Murlidhar Shree Krishna for granting me the wisdom, health and strength to undertake this research task and enabling me to its completion.
