I take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to my guide Prof. R.K. Mutatkar who took great trouble in helping me with the preparation of this thesis.

I am very much obliged and indebted to Dr. B.V. Bhamu, and Prof. K.S. Singh, without whose valuable help and guidance the thesis would not have acquired the present shape.

I am grateful to Dr. I.P. Sing, Dr. D.P. Mukherjee, and Dr. K.C. Malhotra for their valuable suggestions and discussions.

I would like to thank Prof. S.W. Deshpande, and the psychologists at the Dnyana Prabodhini for the help extended to me in the field of psychology. My thanks are also due to Prof. Ratihalli and Shri A.G. Sule who helped me with the statistical problems.

My heartfelt thanks to Miss K. Mathew and Dr. P.M. Fulmali who helped me with the collection of data.

Words fail me to express my gratitude to my friends and classmates Miss Kanchana Thambidorai and Fr. Victor D'asa who were a constant source of inspiration and help in every stage of the preparation of this thesis.

The author acknowledges with thanks the help received from all these persons.

Vinaya A. Ghatage.