ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Research work, especially one leading towards the doctoral dissertation, warrants appreciation and assistance from people far and near.

It is my great privilege to thank the person under whose guidance this thesis was prepared and to acknowledge his contribution, interest in the work and intelligence. This is a difficult assignment as Dr. P.C. Shajewalkar, Director, Institute of Management, Development and Research, Poona, has been much more than just a research guide to me. In him I found a tremendous enthusiasm who besides his academic and professional credentials, is primarily a very genuine and warm person. His unwavering faith and affection radiated infinite energy towards me and I am sure without which, I would have been totally powerless.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the entrepreneurs from Poona included in this study. Without their willingness to endure the repeated interviews, this study could not have progressed. To protect their identity the names of these friends of mine are not disclosed.
I will fail in my duties if I do not acknowledge the towering patience of my parents, Shri G.K. Patil, Smt. Vimalabai Patil and my constant source of inspiration, Shri B.J. Rathi, Smt. Kusumbai Rathi, who always encouraged me and expressed their unqualified confidence in my assignment.

During my study, I had an opportunity to meet and discuss with many people from different professions. They were Management Consultants, Bankers, Entrepreneurs, Officers from State and Central Government, Professors, and so on. Each gave me some new idea of direction. It is difficult to name each and every individual, but they too deserve my thanks for sparing their valuable time.

I also read a lot to collect relevant information for my study. The libraries of IMDR, Poona University, Gokhale Institute, British Council, Mahratta Chamber of Commerce, Bank of Maharashtra and many more, were my usual haunts of study and I sincerely thank all these librarians.
I am grateful also to the students of IMDR, University of Poona and my personal friends and relatives, who helped me in the collection of data.

My wife, Neelam and two children never asked "why" when Pappa was working at his desk. They unselfishly accepted the notion that helping Industry and Nation is more noble than Pappa rolling on the floor, playing with them. I am most grateful to them all.

Last but not the least, I must thank all who helped me in the typing, cyclostyling and binding of this thesis in the best possible manner.

Once again I thank one and all who have helped me, by one way or the other, in this work.
