ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to express my sincere gratitude towards all those, who have helped me, guided me and encouraged me in this research journey and made it memorable for me.

I don’t have words to express my gratitude towards my guide Dr. Mrs. Arwah Madan. Besides her valuable guidance, she stood by me firmly throughout all the difficulties, especially when my research topic was under a threat of being too optimistic and impossible one.

I am very much grateful to my parent institution St. Mira’s College for Girls, Pune and our dear Principal Dr. G. H. Gidwani for her continuous support and encouragement. I would like to thank the librarian of the college, Mrs. Devinder Kaur and all the library staff for taking continuous efforts to keep library resources update and for making them available to me.

I am really grateful to Mr. Abhay Tilak, Indian School of Political Economy, Mr. Sharad Pandit, Senior Faculty Member, Department of Statistics, Savitribai Phule Pune University for sparing time for me, understanding my difficulties and for giving their valuable insights. I would also like to thank Mr. Sharad Pandit for sharing SPSS with us and for his guidance regarding data analysis.

I would like to extend my sincere thanks to Dr. Sumita Kale, my favourite econometrics teacher, currently working as Chief Economist, Indicus Analytics Pvt. Ltd; for guiding me regarding the data analysis.

My sincere thanks to Dr. Mrs. Malati Roy, Retired Head, Department of Economics, S. P. College - my first economics teacher. She really made economics interesting for me. I must admit that today whoever I am, is all because of her.

I would like to thank Dr. Rohini Sahni, Head, Department of Economics, Savitribai Phule Pune University, for being there with us throughout this journey. She is the best economics teacher I have ever met.

I did regression analysis but could not get the appropriate result. Dr. Roshan Kazi, Professor and Head, Allana Institute of Management Sciences gave his valuable suggestions and helped me for conducting the data analysis. I owe him millions of thanks.
Data on poverty in India is not available in form of annual series. I was finding it difficult to calculate the annual series of Head Count Ratio using available data points. Dr. Akshay Dhume, Assistant Professor, Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics really helped me with the methodology for calculating annual data on poverty and also shared statistical software E-VIEWS with me. I am very much indebted to him.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all my colleagues for their support and encouragement. I would like to extend special thanks to Dr. Mrs. Manisha Pimpalkhare, for helping me at each stage of this journey. I am grateful to Dr. Soniya Chavan, Head; Dept. of Economics and Mrs. Shalini Iyer, Head; Dept. of Business Economics; St. Mira’s College for Girls, Pune; for their support and for sparing me from departmental work.

Last but very importantly, I am indebted to all my family members for experiencing this excited journey with me and for supporting me continuously. I owe sincere thanks to my parents – Aai ani Baba and my brother, Tushar; to my in laws – Aji, Aba, Amit, Soniya and Samanvee, my husband Aprajeet and my son Arush. This research journey would not have been possible without their support. Lastly, I am grateful to all the relatives and friends for their well wishes and kind words of encouragement, which kept my spirit up throughout this journey.
