ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I wish to thank all the individuals, not as a customary function but as an urge and sense of duty, who contributed in various capacities in my research work.

Their best wishes and active support encouraged me to carry out the research and complete it. Without their willing co-operation, the study would not have been possible.

I am profoundly grateful to my research guide Dr. Sunandâ Koushik, for her invaluable supervision in research, deep encouragement to carry out the study, co-operation and important suggestions. All these things stimulated my interest in completing the research.

My sincere thanks to, Dr. Uttamrâo Bhoite, who motivated me at all times in completing this research.

I express my thanks to the persons in Pune University administration, who helped me many times in this research.

I have received useful suggestions, information and support from colleagues in the Department of Adult, Continuing Education and Extension, University of Pune, where I work at present. I express my thanks to all the colleagues in my department i.e. Dr. Shravan Kejriwâl, Prof. Tej Niwalikar, Dr. Bhārat Jethithor, Prof. Dhananjay Lokhande, Prof. Gorakh Kāmble, Prof. Vilās Adhāv, Shri Mangesh Shukre and other colleagues.

I wish to sincerely thank, Dr. John Gāikwād, for his help at every step in this research. I am immensely benefited from his valuable suggestions.

I thank deeply, all the respondents (whom I interviewed in household survey and as experts), leaders, representatives from various organisations, government offices and individuals, who helped me somewhere in this research in various forms, and provided relevant data.

I am extremely grateful to, Principal Raosehab Jādhav, NSS teacher in-charge Prof. Shinde and the college students from Annāsāheb Waghire College, Otur, (Dist. Pune), who extended me kind support in conducting household survey and collecting field data.

I take an opportunity to thank, Principal Dr. Ashok Thorāt and Principal K.H. Shitole for their kind cooperation.

I am profoundly thankful to the heads, librarians and their colleagues of following libraries -
1. Jaykar Library, University of Pune.
2. Karve Institute of Social Service, Pune.
3. Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai.
4. Tribal Research and Training Institute, Pune.
5. Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Research and training Institute, Pune.
7. Shri Shahu Mandir Mahavidyalaya Library, Pune.
8. Department of Adult, Continuing Education and extension, University of Pune.

I received valuable data from them which is very useful in the present research study.

The Director, the faculty members and the staff of Karve Institute of Social Service, Pune, helped me in various ways. Mrs. Vidyā Pillai and her colleagues from Karve Institute (Research & Development Department) helped me in data processing. I am thankful to them for their acts of kindness.

I express gratitudes to the officials in the Directorate of Social Welfare (Mahārāṣhtra State) for their cooperation.

I am thankful to following persons, who helped me in the research at some stage -
Dr. Vishwas Yādav, Adv. Janārdan Pātil, Shri R.V. Punwatkar, Shri M.M. Tānksāle, Shri Kshirsāgar, Shri Mohan Deshmāne, and the writers, editors, publishers of the books, booklets, articles, papers, other writings, whose references, I have used in this study.

I thank shri S.R.Prabhu for completing the computer typing intime and neatly.

Also I would like to thank all the persons, organisations who helped me either directly or indirectly, somewhere in research.

My special thanks to my wife Mrs. Swāti, daughter Chhakuli and Bhāgwat family who shouldered all my domestic responsibilities, so that I could concentrate on research work.

- Satish Kanhu Shirsath.